[Approved February 1, 1908.]

CHAPTER 2.

CONCERNING TRIMMING OF TREES.

Section one of chapter thirty-three of the Revised Ordinances of 1898 is hereby amended by inserting after the word "travel" in the sixth line of said section the following words: "shall, upon request of the officer having charge of the public lamps, trim in such manner as said officer may require any tree which interferes with the proper lighting of a street."

[Approved March 24, 1908.]

CHAPTER 3.*

CONCERNING CONSOLIDATION OF CERTAIN DEPARTMENTS WITH THE STREET DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The street department shall be under the charge of the superintendent of streets, who shall construct all streets and sewers; shall have discretionary power as to the grades, materials and other particulars of construction of streets, sidewalks and sewers; shall have charge of and keep clean and in good condition and repair the streets, the pumping station and reservoirs of the improved sewerage system of sewers under the control of the city and the catch-basins in the streets connected with the sewers; shall keep the streets properly watered; shall remove from yards and areas, when so placed as to be easily removed, all ashes accumulated from the burning of materials for heating habitations, cooking and other domestic purposes, all house dirt, house offal, and all noxious and refuse substances; shall, on the fifteenth day of each month, send to the city auditor detailed bills of all materials, tools and machinery furnished by either of the divisions of said department to any other such division, or for any special work.

SECT. 2. Said superintendent shall have the care and management of the ferries owned by the city; shall purchase or build all boats, and make the necessary repairs and alterations on the slips, drops, buildings and boats used for ferry purposes; and shall cause all moneys received by him or his subordinates from tolls and other sources to be paid to the city collector on the day following the day of the receipt thereof, but may retain in the possession of the clerk to the deputy superintendent in charge of the ferry division a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars for making change and for other purposes.

SECT. 3. Said superintendent shall have charge of all lamps established by the board of aldermen and maintained at the expense of the city, of all lamps set up in parks, parkways, or public grounds, and of all lamp posts, posts or fixtures connected with such lamps, and shall set up and affix lamps in the streets; shall have the care and custody of all city property hitherto in the possession of the lamp department, or that shall hereafter be acquired for the purpose of street lighting, and shall maintain and keep the same in good repair; shall see that the streets are lighted by such methods of lighting as the board of aldermen may from time to time order, and that the lamps in the streets are lighted and extinguished at such times as are ordered by the board of aldermen.

SECT. 4. Said superintendent shall have the care and management of all bridges which are used as highways, and are in whole or in part under the charge of the city, and of so much of Harvard bridge and Prison Point bridge as are under the charge and control of the board of aldermen or of the city; shall be the commissioner to act with another commissioner for the city of Cambridge, and as such commissioner shall have and exercise all the powers in relation to West Boston bridge and Craigie bridge conferred by chapter three hundred and two of the Acts of the year 1870; shall, when he exposes any portion of the structure on which the strength of a bridge depends, notify the city engineer and afford him an opportunity to inspect the same; shall make all repairs affecting the strength of any bridge, under the supervision of the city engineer; shall keep the rails and planks in good order, and all dirt, snow and ice removed from the sidewalks; shall keep all said bridges, or those parts thereof under his care, and the abutments, guards, draws and wharves thereof clean and in good condition and repair; shall appoint draw-tenders for the draws in bridges of which he has the care, and see that they properly perform their duties, and may remove them for such cause as he shall deem sufficient, and shall assign in his order of removal. Each draw-tender so appointed shall take charge by night and by day of the draw of which he is draw-tender; shall require from the person in charge of a vessel applying to pass through the draw a true statement of the name, extreme width, and draught of the vessel; shall determine the order in which vessels may pass through the draw, and may direct the placing of warping-lines, anchors and cables, and the use of any warping apparatus provided by the city; shall cause the draw to be opened for the passage of vessels when moving with the tide, and, in his discretion, when moving against the tide, if the wind is favorable or if the vessel is in tow; but he shall not allow any vessel to pass through the draws of bridges except such vessels as shall be ready to go through at the following times: 9.30 A.M., 11.00 A.M., 1.30 P.M., 3.00 P.M., 8.30 P.M., 11.30 P.M., and from 11.30 P.M. to 6.00 A.M.; shall cause the draw to be closed with all possible expedition after a vessel has passed through, not permitting more than one vessel to pass through at one opening of the draw, except that, when the draw is open and the bridge is free from persons desiring to cross, he may, in his discretion, permit other vessels to pass through before causing the draw to be closed; he shall perform such additional duties as said superintendent may require.

SECT. 5. Said superintendent shall place and maintain in one or more suitable conspicuous places to be selected by him, on each street of the city, the name of the street and of the ward in which the street is situated, as shown by the records; shall require the number of each building on a street which he shall designate as the street number therefor to be affixed to or inscribed on the building by the owner, and may determine the form, size, and material of any such number, and the place and mode of affixing or inscribing it.

SECT. 6. Said superintendent shall keep a book in which he shall record the date of every order for constructing a sewer, the name of the contractor or builder constructing it, the date of commencing and the date of completing the work, and the cost of the sewer; also a book in which he shall certify the names of the owners of estates assessed for the construction of the sewer, the number of feet of land of each estate bordering on the street or strip of land in which the sewer was laid, the amount of each assessment, the date of completion of the sewer, and the dates when the notices of assessments were given. He shall make and deliver to the city collector all bills for assessments as they become due.

SECT. 7. Said superintendent shall keep a plan for every existing and every new sewer, showing its depth, breadth, mode of construction, and general direction, and shall, from time to time, ascertain and insert on said plans all entries made into the sewers.

SECT. 8. Said superintendent shall, when about to build a new sewer or repair an old sewer, notify all abutters on that part of the line of said sewer when he proposes to do work, and afford them facilities for entering the sewer; and shall, when about to construct a new street, at least four weeks before beginning work, and, when about to make a new surface of any street, at least two weeks before beginning work, notify the water commissioner and all persons authorized to place any structure in such street, and require and see that said department or persons having any work to be done in the streets so designated shall do all such work before the surface of such street is again prepared for and opened to public travel; and, after the completion of the work then done on such street, shall not, for the space of one year thereafter, permit any department or person to disturb the surface of such street or way within the area of such previous disturbance, except in case of obvious necessity, a record of which shall be made in a book to be kept for that purpose.

* SECT. 9. Said superintendent may issue permits to persons having authority in the premises to open, occupy, obstruct, and use portions of the streets, and should the portion of the street which has been so opened or used require repaving or resurfacing within a period of twelve months from the time it has been so used, the superintendent of streets shall notify the person applying for the permit under authority of which the portion was so used to make such repairs as in the opinion of said superintendent are necessary, and in case of the failure of the said person to make such repairs within one week from the date of the said notification then the superintendent of streets shall have the right to make such necessary repairs, and the expense of the same shall be paid by such person; all amounts received by the city collector for work done or materials furnished under notification of the superintendent of streets, as above authorized, shall be placed to the credit and used as a part of the appropriation for the street department. Every permit issued as aforesaid shall specify the time, place, size, and use of such opening, occupation, or obstruction, and the time within which the street must be put in good condition, and shall be on a condition the terms of which shall be those stated in chapter three, section twenty-one, of the Revised Ordinances of 1898, and in addition, that the person applying for the permit shall place and maintain from the beginning of twilight, through the whole of every night, over or near the place so occupied, opened, obstructed or used, and over or near any dirt, gravel, or other material placed in or near such place, a light or lights sufficient to protect travellers from injury; shall place and maintain a safe and convenient way for the use of foot travellers and for vehicles around or over such place; shall protect such trees as shall be designated by the superintendent of public grounds in such manner as he shall specify; shall provide suitable sanitary accommodations for his employees; shall, if he does not, within the time prescribed by said superintendent, put the street into good condition satisfactory to said superintendent, pay whatever sum the said superintendent shall expend for putting it into such condition; and shall deliver up the permit to an officer of the police force of said city on or before the expiration of the time fixed in the permit for completing the work, such permit to be returned by said officer to the street department; said superintendent may, in addition to said specifications, specify in the permit, or after the issuing thereof, in writing, the kind of rail or fence to enclose the place, and the kind of way over or around such place, and the manner of constructing the same.

SECT. 10. Said superintendent may issue such a permit to any person who presents a permit from the water department to repair or lay water pipes.

SECT. 11. Said superintendent may issue such a permit to competent mechanics for the purpose of entering particular drains into public drains and sewers, on a condition the terms of which shall be those hereinbefore stated in section nine of this chapter, and, in addition, that the person applying for the permit shall make connection of the said drain with the said sewer only in the manner shown on the back of said permit, and only in the presence of an inspector of the sewer division; shall have on the ground, when the inspector arrives to see the connection made, any slant, bend, or curve to be used in making the connection; shall not cover up any work until inspected by one of said inspectors; shall not lay the drain in the same trench with a water pipe; shall not connect any exhaust from a steam engine, any blow-off from a steam boiler, or any other pipe for delivering steam or hot water, with the drain or sewer; shall, when he receives any pipe from the street department in exchange for another, return such other to the yard of the street department within twenty-four hours after receiving such exchange. Said superintendent shall in each drain permit specify the size, material, and mode of construction of the particular drain, and the direction and grade for laying it, but before issuing the permit for entering a drain into a particular public sewer from land upon which a sewer assessment has not been paid, he shall be paid for the city an assessment of two cents per square foot for all land in the estate from which the entry is made within one hundred feet of the street or strip of land in which the sewer or particular drain is laid.

SECT. 12. Said superintendent may issue such a permit to a responsible person for the purpose of raising and lowering goods and merchandise into and from buildings, on a condition the terms of which shall be those stated in chapter three, section twenty-one, of the Revised Ordinances of 1898, and in addition that the person applying for the permit shall maintain, during the whole time the work is in progress, good and sufficient barriers across the sidewalk, from the wall of the building to or from which the goods or merchandise are so raised, out to the curbstone or edge of the sidewalk, on each side of said goods or merchandise, sufficient to protect travellers from injury or danger; and that he will not encumber the sidewalk for more than fifteen minutes at a time for such work.

SECT. 13. Said superintendent shall issue such a permit to any person authorized by the board of aldermen to place a coal hole, vault, or coal slide under a street, or a cover thereto, on a condition the terms of which shall be those hereinbefore stated in section nine of this chapter, and in addition that the person applying for the permit shall make the underground structure, if a coal slide, with the sides at least eight inches thick, of good hard brick laid in cement; if other than a coal slide, with the outer wall next to the roadway at least two and one-half feet thick, of heavy granite blocks, laid in cement, the side walls at least one foot thick, of good hard brick, or of granite blocks, laid in cement; the top of iron, or iron and glass, or of rough-surfaced iron, or, at least six inches thick, either of good hard brick laid in the form of an arch turned in a good and sufficient manner, or of rough-hammered granite, or blue stone, or North River flagstone; shall make the opening of a coal hole or coal slide circular, and not more than eighteen inches in diameter, and furnish a cover therefor of iron, made with a rough upper surface, and with three or more iron rods or legs at least two feet in length, fitting closely to the side of the opening, and projecting downwards from the under side of the cover, and so constructed that, while the cover can be lifted perpendicularly, it cannot be tipped or easily removed from the opening.

SECT. 14. Said superintendent shall, when authorized thereto by the board of aldermen, issue such a permit to a building mover actually engaged in the business, for the purpose of moving a building through the streets, on a condition the terms of which shall be those stated in section nine of this chapter; provided, that an application for such permit, describing the locations from and to which, and the route over which, the building is to be moved, the length, width, and height of the building, and the principal material of its exterior and roof, and accompanied by the written consent of the building commissioner to the placing of the building on the lot proposed, shall be first made to said superintendent, who shall make an examination of the premises, and report thereon to the board of aldermen for its action. Whenever it appears that the moving of a building will encumber the tracks of any railroad corporation, a public hearing shall be given by the board of aldermen upon the subject before such permit is authorized.

SECT. 15. Said superintendent shall, when authorized thereto by an order of the board of aldermen, issue such a permit to a responsible person, for the purposes of laying, maintaining and using wires, railway tracks, or rails in the streets, or wires, pipes, or conduits under the surface thereof, on a condition the terms of which shall be those stated in section nine of this chapter, and in addition that the person applying for the permit shall, whenever requested so to do by the mayor, furnish in his conduits for wires accommodations free of charge for all wires belonging to, or to be used by, the city; shall remove the conduits and wires whenever directed, and not until directed, so to do by the city council; and shall not disturb or interfere with any wires, pipes, or sewers lawfully laid in such street or connected therewith.

SECT. 16. Said superintendent shall, when authorized thereto by an order of the board of aldermen, issue such a permit to a responsible person for the purpose of placing and maintaining in the streets poles for the support of wires, on a condition the terms of which shall be those hereinbefore stated in section nine of this chapter, and in addition that the person applying for the permit shall keep said poles well painted and in good condition, to the satisfaction of the superintendent of streets; shall place the wires on said poles not less than twenty-five feet from the ground; shall keep the name of the person owning the pole distinctly painted on the cross bars used and occupied by him on the pole, and also on the pole at a point not less than six feet nor more than eight feet from the ground; shall allow the departments of the city the exclusive use of the upper cross bar and top of each pole, free of all charge, for the purpose of placing wires thereon; shall not suffer or permit any other person to place or keep wires on said poles, or upon the fixtures thereto affixed, without permission being first obtained in writing from the board of aldermen; shall not remove any pole erected under this order until, and shall remove any pole when, directed by the board of aldermen so to do; and that on the violation of any term of these conditions the said superintendent shall remove the poles at the expense of the person owning them.

SECT. 17. Said superintendent, before he delivers any such permit to any person for the applicant therefor, shall have received from such person a certificate that a copy of the permit, entered in a book kept for the purpose, is a correct copy of the permit he receives, and the applicant, unless an employee of the city applying for a permit for public work, shall have given a bond, in the case of permits under sections nine, eleven, twelve and thirteen of this chapter, of one thousand dollars; under section fourteen of this chapter, of three thousand dollars; and under sections fifteen and sixteen of this chapter, of twenty thousand dollars; each bond, with one or more sureties satisfactory to said superintendent, conditioned to the faithful observance of the conditions and specifications of each and every permit thereafter issued on his application by the superintendent of streets; and said superintendent of streets may at any time require a new bond, which shall be considered a strengthening bond, unless the sureties on the former bond or bonds are expressly released from their liability by vote of the city council. No bond shall be required of any person to open a public street for the purpose of planting a tree therein if said person has been duly authorized by the proper municipal authorities to plant trees in said highways.

SECT. 18. Said superintendent shall not issue any such permit to a person who has within twelve months previous to his application violated or failed to observe the conditions or specifications of any such permit; but the issuing of such permits, and the opening, occupation, obstruction, and the use of portions of streets, and the making and maintaining of coal holes, vaults, and other permanent excavations under the surface of streets, and their covers, shall be subject to any permission, control, regulation, restriction, or revocation which the board of aldermen may make.

SECT. 19. Every owner of an estate hereafter maintaining any cellar, vault, coal hole, or other excavation under the part of the street adjacent to, or which is a part of, his estate, shall do so only on condition that such maintenance shall be considered as an agreement on his part to hold the city harmless from any claims for damage to himself or the occupants of said estate resulting from gas, sewage or water leaking into such excavation or upon such estate; and every such owner, and every person maintaining a post, pole, or other structure in a street, or a wire, pipe, conduit, or other structure under a street, shall do so only on the condition that such maintenance shall be considered as an agreement on his part with the city to keep the same and the covers thereof in good repair and condition at all times during his ownership, and to indemnify and save harmless the city against any and all damages, costs, expenses, or compensation which it may sustain or be required to pay, by reason of such excavation or structure being under or in the street, or being out of repair during his ownership, or by reason of any cover of the same being out of repair or unfastened during his ownership.

SECT. 20. Said superintendent shall require every person who maintains an entrance on a level with, or below, or a flight of steps descending immediately from, or near, the line of the street, and which is not otherwise safely or securely guarded to the satisfaction of said superintendent, to enclose such entrance or steps with a permanent iron railing on each side, at least three feet high from the top of the sidewalk or pavement, and to provide the same with a gate opening inwardly, or two iron chains across the entrance way, one near the top and the other half way from the ground to the top of the railing, and to keep said gates or chains closed during the night, unless the entrance or steps are sufficiently lighted to prevent accident.

SECT. 21. Said superintendent shall keep a record of the notices of defects in streets sent to him, with the name of the person giving the notice, and the time when given, and he shall without delay cause the locality of the alleged defect to be examined, and, if the defect is of such a character as to endanger the safety of public travel, shall do whatever may be necessary to protect the public from injury by the defect, and cause it to be immediately repaired; and every person in the employ of the city shall send to said superintendent notice of every such defect which may come to his notice.

SECT. 22. Said superintendent shall in his annual report include a statement of the repairs and expenditures on each street and on each bridge under his charge; of the number of times each draw of a bridge has been opened for the passage of vessels; of the number of vessels laden with cargo that have passed through each draw; of the condition of each ferry boat, slip, drop, tank, and building used for ferry purposes, and of the repairs and expenditures on each; and of the number of persons and teams of different classes that have passed over each ferry during the year.

SECT. 9. Said commissioner may issue permits to persons having authority in the premises to open, occupy, obstruct and use portions of the streets, and should the portion of the street which has been so opened or used require repaving or resurfacing within a period of two years from the time it has been so used, the commissioner shall notify the person applying for the permit under authority of which the portion was so used to make such repairs as in the opinion of said commissioner are necessary, and in case of the failure of the said person to make such repairs within one week from the date of the said notification then the commissioner shall have the right to make such necessary repairs, and the expense of the same shall be paid by such person; all amounts received by the city collector for work done or materials furnished under notification of the commissioner as above authorized shall be placed to the credit and used as a part of the appropriation for the public works department.

Every permit issued as aforesaid shall specify the time, place, size and use of such opening, occupation or obstruction, and the time within which the street must be put in good condition, and shall be on a condition the terms of which shall be those stated in chapter three, section twenty-one, of the Revised Ordinances of 1898, and in addition that the person applying for the permit shall place and maintain from the beginning of twilight, through the whole of every night, over or near the place so occupied, opened, obstructed or used, and over or near any dirt, gravel or other material placed in or near such place, a light or lights sufficient to protect travelers from injury; shall place and maintain a safe and convenient way for the use of foot travelers and for vehicles around or over such place; shall protect such trees as shall be designated by the superintendent of public grounds in such manner as he shall specify; shall provide suitable sanitary accommodations for his employees; shall, if he does not, within the time prescribed by said commissioner, put the street into good condition satisfactory to said commissioner, pay whatever sum the said commissioner shall expend for putting it into such condition; and shall deliver up the permit to an officer of the police force of said city on or before the expiration of the time fixed in the permit for completing the work, such permit to be returned by said officer to the public works department. Said commissioner may, in addition to said specifications, specify in the permit, or after the issuing thereof, in writing, the kind of rail or fence to inclose the place, and the kind of way over or around such place, and the manner of constructing the same. If such a permit is issued to a public service corporation said commissioner shall detail an inspector to supervise said opening, occupation and use. Said inspector shall see that the backfilling is properly done and the surface repaved or resurfaced to the satisfaction of the commissioner, and a bill shall be deposited monthly with the city collector against the corporations whose work has been inspected for the wages or salaries of said inspectors. All moneys received by the city collector for such inspection as above authorized shall be placed to the credit and used as a part of the appropriation for the public works department.

SECT. 13. Said commissioner shall, when authorized thereto by the street commissioners, issue such a permit to a building mover actually engaged in the business, for the purpose of moving a building through the streets, on a condition the terms of which shall be those stated in section nine of this ordinance; provided, that an application for such permit, describing the locations from and to which, and the route over which, the building is to be moved, the length, width and height of the building, and the principal material of its exterior and roof, and accompanied by the written consent of the building commissioner to the placing of the building on the lot proposed, shall be first made to said commissioner who shall make an examination of the premises, and report thereon to the street commissioners for their action. Whenever it appears that the moving of a building will encumber the tracks of any railroad corporation, a public hearing shall be given by the street commissioners upon the subject before such permit is authorized.

SECT. 14. Said commissioner shall, when authorized thereto by an order of the street commissioners, issue such a permit to a responsible person, for the purpose of laying, maintaining and using wires, railway tracks or rails in the streets, or wires, pipes or conduits under the surface thereof, on a condition the terms of which shall be those stated in section nine of this ordinance, and in addition that the person applying for the permit shall, whenever requested so to do by the mayor, furnish in his conduits for wires accommodations free of charge for all wires belonging to, or to be used by, the city;

Said commissioner, before he delivers any such permit to any person for the applicant therefor, shall have received from such person a certificate that a copy of the permit, entered in a book kept for the purpose, is a correct copy of the permit he receives, and the applicant, unless an employee of the city applying for a permit for public work, shall have given a bond, in the case of permits under sections nine, ten, eleven and twelve of this ordinance, of one thousand dollars, under section thirteen of this ordinance, of three thousand dollars, and under sections fourteen and fifteen of this ordinance, of twenty thousand dollars, each bond, with one or more sureties satisfactory to said commissioner, conditioned to the faithful observance of the conditions and specifications of each and every permit thereafter issued on his application by the commissioner; and said commissioner may at any time require a new bond, which shall be considered a strengthening bond, unless the sureties on the former bond or bonds are expressly released from their liability by vote of the city council. No bond shall be required of any person to open a public street for the purpose of planting a tree therein if said person has been duly authorized by the proper municipal authorities to plant trees in said highways.

SECT. 17. Said commissioner shall not issue any such permit to a person who has within twelve months previous to his application violated or failed to observe the conditions or specifications of any such permit; but the issuing of such permits and the opening, occupation, obstruction and the use of portions of streets, and the making and maintaining of coal holes, vaults and other permanent excavations under the surface of streets, and their covers, shall be subject to any permission, control, regulation, restriction or revocation which the street commissioners may make.

SECT. 18. Every owner of an estate hereafter maintaining any cellar, vault, coal hole or other excavation under the part of the street which is adjacent to, or a part of, his estate, shall do so only on condition that such maintenance shall be considered as an agreement on his part to hold the city harmless from any claims for damage to himself or the occupants of said estate resulting from gas, sewage or water leaking into such excavation or upon such estate; and every such owner and every person maintaining a post, pole or other structure in a street, or a wire, pipe, conduit or other structure under a street, shall do so only on the condition that such maintenance shall be considered as an agreement on his part with the city to keep the same and the covers thereof in good repair and condition at all times during his ownership, and to indemnify and save harmless the city against any and all damages, costs, expenses or compensation which it may sustain or be required to pay, by reason of such excavation or structure being under or in the street, or being out of repair during his ownership, or by reason of any cover of the same being out of repair or unfastened during his ownership.

SECT. 19. Said commissioner shall require every per-

SECT. 20. Said commissioner shall keep a record of the notices of defects in streets sent to him, with the name of the person giving the notice and the time when given, and he shall without delay cause the locality of the alleged defect to be examined, and, if the defect is of such a character as to endanger the safety of public travel, shall do whatever may be necessary to protect the public from injury by the defect, and cause it to be immediately repaired.

SECT. 21. Said commissioner shall in his annual report include a statement of the repairs and expenditures on each street and on each bridge under his charge; of the number of times each draw of a bridge has been opened for the passage of vessels; of the number of vessels laden with cargo that have passed through each draw; of the condition of each ferryboat, slip, drop, tank and building used for ferry purposes, and of the repairs and expenditures on each; and of the number of persons and teams of different classes that have passed over each ferry during the year.

person who takes water to be visited, and the water fixtures therein to be examined by a skilled inspector; shall shut the water off from, and let it on to, any particular service when notified by the city collector that the water rate therefor has not, or has, been paid, and at such other times, as he deems it necessary; shall exercise a constant supervision over the use of water, and, with the approval of the mayor, shall, from time to time, determine and establish the rates for the use of water.

SECT. 23. Said commissioner shall make contracts, issue bills for the use of water, and send the bills to the city collector; shall make abatements of charges for water where improperly assessed; shall provide that all bills for water by annual rates shall be due in advance on the first day of January of each year, and be paid within sixty days thereafter; that all bills for fractional parts of a year, or for specific supplies, shall be due when the water is let on or delivered, and be paid within ten days thereafter; that all bills for water furnished and measured by meter shall never be less than eight (8) dollars per year, shall be due on the first day of January, April, July and October, and shall be paid within ten days thereafter; shall, if the water is paid for by annual rates and two or more dwelling houses are valued together for the assessment of taxes, make separate valuations of each; and shall, when a portion of only an estate is chargeable for the water, make a separate valuation of such portion, and on such valuations the amounts to be paid, if based on values, shall be assessed.

SECT. 24. Said commissioner shall designate one of his subordinates to be the head of the water income division, who shall receive all moneys deposited on account of main, service, fire, elevator, motor and other pipes and the laying thereof, and for repair work; who shall give a receipt in behalf of the city therefor; and who shall pay, from the moneys so received, the amount found by him to be due the person paying any such money, as excess over the amount due the city, and, on or before the fifth day of every month, pay over the moneys in his possession due the city, and account for all moneys so received by him since the last accounting, as provided in chapter three, section eighteen, of the Revised Ordinances of 1898.

*SECT. 26. Said commissioner, whenever the water has been shut off from any premises because the bill for water has not been paid, and there is a change in the occupancy of said premises, may let the water on again without waiting for the payment of the amount due from any former occupant. In case of contracts for specific supplies he shall shut the water off as soon as the contract has been carried out; the foregoing provisions shall apply when two or more parties take water from the same service pipe, although one or more may have paid the amount due from him or them.

SECT. 27. Said commissioner shall keep suitable books, in which shall be entered the names of all persons who take water, the kind of building in which it is taken, the name of the street, and the number thereon, the nature of the use, the number of taps, and the rate assessed.

2. Every water taker must stop the use of water for any purpose when required to do so by the commissioner of public works and must guard against collapse of a boiler and other injuries liable to result from want of water, as the water is liable to be shut off at any time without notice.

OPINION OF CORPORATION COUNSEL RELATIVE TO TERM OF OFFICE OF HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS UNDER SECTION 13 OF CHAPTER 486 OF THE ACTS OF 1909.

IN CITY COUNCIL, May 29, 1913.

The following was received:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE CITY CLERK, May 26, 1913.

To the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—In order that it may be made a matter of record, I transmit herewith the correspondence between this office and the Law Department in regard to the construction of section 13 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, concerning the term of office of heads of departments.

Yours respectfully,

JAMES DONOVAN,
City Clerk.

Ordered printed and placed on file.

Attest:

JAMES DONOVAN,
City Clerk.

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE CITY CLERK, April 7, 1913.

HON. JOSEPH J. CORBETT,
Corporation Counsel:

DEAR SIR,—On April 16, 1910, Thomas M. Babson, Esq., was appointed Corporation Counsel, and on September 15, 1910, Charles D. Daly was appointed

Fire Commissioner, the term of office in each case being for four years from May 1, 1910, under section 13 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909.

In 1912, Mr. Daly having been removed and Mr. Babson having died, Mr. Charles H. Cole was appointed Fire Commissioner and Joseph J. Corbett, Esq., was appointed Corporation Counsel, and they accepted the offices on February 12, 1912, and March 26, 1912, respectively.

Your opinion is requested as to the construction to be placed on the above-mentioned section — whether the appointments of Mr. Cole and of Mr. Corbett should be considered to be for the balance of the unexpired term of four years from May 1, 1910, or for a new term of four years from May 1 in the year of appointment.

If the latter is the proper construction, your opinion is further requested as to whether or not any appointment is possible, other than the designation of the head of another department or member of a board, to fill a vacancy occurring between January 1 and May 1 in any year.

Yours very truly,

JAMES DONOVAN,
City Clerk.

CITY OF BOSTON,
LAW DEPARTMENT, May 13, 1913.

HON. JAMES DONOVAN,
City Clerk:

DEAR SIR,— I have considered your request for my opinion whether the tenure of office of Mr. Charles H. Cole, who was appointed Fire Commissioner, and accepted that office on February 12, 1912, and also whether my tenure of office, having been appointed Corporation Counsel, and having accepted that office on March 26, 1912, were for the balance of the unexpired term of the former incumbents of these offices from May 1, 1910, or were for a new term of four years from May 1, 1912.

I have felt a certain embarrassment in giving my opinion on a matter in which it might be said that I had an interest, and I consequently have secured the opinion of one of the drafters of the charter amendments upon the point in question. I inclose this opinion and I concur in his conclusion that these appointments were for a period terminating on the first of May, 1916.

Yours truly,

JOSEPH J. CORBETT,
Corporation Counsel.

BOSTON, May 13, 1913.

HON. JOSEPH J. CORBETT,

Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston:

MY DEAR MR. CORBETT,— My opinion has been requested concerning the proper answers to certain questions propounded by the City Clerk by a letter addressed to you dated April 7, a copy of which is herewith enclosed. The questions may be stated thus:

1. When the head of a department dies, resigns, or is removed before the expiration of his term, and the Mayor desires to make a permanent appointment in his stead, must the appointment be for the remainder of the unexpired term? Or

2. Can he make a permanent appointment for a term which will commence immediately upon qualification and acceptance and end four years from May 1 of that year? And

3. In this event is such appointment effectuated by a paper signed by the Mayor which specifies no term but simply appoints him to the office in question?

The answer to these questions involves the proper construction of the so-called Charter of 1909.

The special facts relating to the appointments in question appear from the letter of the City Clerk and other information to be as follows:

The new charter took effect, so far as all the provisions affecting appointments are concerned, on February 7, 1910. On April 7, 1910, Mr. Thomas M. Babson was appointed by the Mayor Corporation Counsel, and on August 18, 1910, Mr. Charles D. Daly was appointed Fire Commissioner. In both cases the paper or certificate of appointment stated merely that the person named was "appointed" to the position, no term being mentioned. Both gentlemen were certified by the Civil Service Commission to be qualified, and duly accepted their appointments. In January, 1912, Mr. Daly was removed. Mr. John H. Dunn, one of the Street Commissioners, was "designated" to discharge the duties of Fire Commissioner "until such time as the office is filled by a permanent appointment," and Mr. Charles H. Cole was "appointed" to the position of Fire Commissioner. Mr. Babson died in March, 1912. Mr. James R. Murphy, a member of the Board of Appeal, was "designated" to serve as temporary Corporation Counsel "until such time as a permanent head of the Law Department should be appointed," and on March 12 Mr. Joseph J. Corbett was "appointed" to the "position of Corporation Counsel." Messrs. Cole and Corbett were duly certified by the Civil Service Commission as qualified and accepted the appointments.

Upon consideration of these facts, of the terms of the Charter of 1909, and of such other data as may properly be used in the construction thereof, I am of the opinion that the answer to the first question must be in the negative, and that the answers to the second and third questions should be in the affirmative.

In construing the Act of 1909 and in determining the effect under this law of the action of the Mayor in making the appointments in question, it is proper to take into account all the circumstances surrounding and leading to the passage of the act in question, including (1) the law upon the subject of appointments as it stood when the act was passed; (2) such information as may have reached the Legislature in the shape of official reports relating to the subject and submitted by direction of the Legislature; and (3) the proceedings of the Legislature on the bill and petition, if any, which resulted in the passage of the act in question. (See Brown v. Turner, 174 Mass. 150; and Old South Association v. Boston, 212 Mass. 299.) The final report of the Finance Commission of 1907, submitted to the Legislature under date of January 29, 1909, is a document well within this rule, for it was prepared by a commission which had been directed by Statutes 1908, chapter 562, to report its findings and recommendations to the General Court in order to assist that body in the enactment of laws for the government of the city.

Prior to the Act of 1909 the tenure of the executive officers of the city was determined under the Charter of 1854 and the general law of 1890 (chapter 418) relating to officers and departments of the City of Boston, by ordinance. The Act of 1890 provided (section 1) that every head of department whose term of office was not fixed by statute should "hold office for such term, not exceeding three years, beginning with the first day of May in the year of his appointment as the City Council may by ordinance determine," and the ordinances (see Revised Ordinances of 1898, Edition of 1908, chapter 2) provided (section 1) that all appointments should be made in the year in which the term of the incumbent expired for the term fixed by statute or ordinance beginning with the first day of May of the year of appointment; and (section 2) that in case of death, resignation, or removal, or of the temporary absence or disability of the incumbent of an office, the Mayor might designate some other head of a department to discharge the duties of the office temporarily. The terms of most of the leading executive offices were fixed by ordinance under the Act of 1890 at one year.

As the matter stood, therefore, at the time of the passage of the Act of 1909, most of the important executive officers of the city government were appointed for terms of one year only, beginning with May 1 in the year of appointment, and if the office became vacant by death, resignation or removal, the Mayor could either put the department temporarily in charge of the head of some other department, or could make a permanent appointment for the remainder of the unexpired term. If the Mayor chose the latter alternative he could, in the case of an office becoming vacant in June, make a permanent appointment which would expire on May 1 of the following year; and if the vacancy occurred in March or April the term of the new appointee would expire on May 1 of that year. The Mayor could not offer the appointee a term of even twelve months' duration unless the vacancy occurred immediately after the first of May. In like manner, for an office the term of which was fixed by a statute or ordinance at two or three years, an appointment made to fill a vacancy would be for only the unexpired term and would not run for the full period of two or three years, as the case might be, from May 1 in the year when the vacancy occurred.

The Finance Commission of 1907-09 was directed by the order of the City Council under which it was appointed (see Reports of the Finance Commission, Volume I., pages 9 and 10) to examine into all matters pertaining to the finances of the city, including the "system of administration," and the Act of the Legislature of 1908 (chapter 562, section 1) directed the commission to investigate the subjects referred to in the order of the City Council, and also to inquire generally into the "management of the business of the city," to inform itself as to the manner and methods in which the same had been conducted, and to report its findings and recommendations to the General Court.

The commission made its final report to the Legislature under date of January 29, 1909, in a document which criticised the short terms which were provided for the heads of departments, pointed out the difficulty of getting properly qualified persons to accept office for such short periods, recommended that the "heads of departments should be appointed for reasonably long terms," and suggested four years instead of the shorter (generally one year) terms then in force. (See Finance Commission's Reports, Volume II., pages 199, 200, 241, 246 and 247.) The prior reports of the commission addressed to the City Council were to a great extent incorporated by reference in the final report to the Legislature and contained repeated illustrations of the evil consequences of the short terms then provided by law for the principal executive offices of the city. The draft of the charter submitted by the commission (see Reports, Volume II., pages 271 and 272) contained in section 34 a provision that all heads of departments should be appointed for terms of four years beginning with the first day of May in the year in which they were appointed, and in section 33 a provision that in case of vacancies the Mayor should designate some other head of a department to discharge the duties of the office temporarily.

This report was referred to the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and the result was the passage of chapter 486 of the acts of that year, approved June 11. Sections 12 and 13 of this act are as follows:

SECTION 12. A vacancy in any office to which the provisions of section nine of this act apply shall be filled by the mayor under the provisions of said section and pending a permanent appointment he shall designate some other head of a department or member of a board to discharge the duties of the office temporarily.

SECT. 13. Members of boards shall be appointed for the terms established by law or by ordinance. Heads of departments shall be appointed for terms of four years beginning with the first day of May of the year in which they are appointed and shall continue thereafter to hold office during the pleasure of the mayor.

This act was by section 63 to take effect, so far as these provisions are concerned, on the first Monday in February, 1910; and in section 9 it was provided that

All heads of departments and members of municipal boards, including the board of street commissioners, as their present terms of office expire (but excluding the school committee and those officials by law appointed by the governor), shall be appointed by the mayor without confirmation by the city council.

The Finance Commission also recommended radical changes in the method of appointments respecting both the qualification of appointees and the power of confirmation, and these suggestions were adopted in the Act of 1909. They need not be referred to here except as emphasizing the intent of the Legislature to so change the system as to make it possible for the city to enjoy the services of a better class of men in the chief executive offices than could be secured under the system then in force.

The new charter took effect, as already stated, on February 7, 1910, and the practice respecting vacancies since its adoption has been for the Mayor either to "designate" the head of some other department to fill the office temporarily, or to "appoint" some person to the position; in the latter case nothing being specified as to the length of term or the date of its beginning.

The proper construction of the act, with reference to the questions set out in the letter of the City Clerk, is not free from difficulty, but, upon the whole, I am of the opinion that it was the intent of the Legislature to enable the Mayor to get the best men he could to fill the high executive offices of the city by permitting him to make permanent appointments which would enable the appointee to take the place at once, or as soon as certified by the Civil Service Commission, and to hold it (subject to removal, etc.) until the first day of May in the fourth year of his appointment.

My reasons for this opinion may be summarized as follows:

1. The object of the law in providing four years instead of the shorter terms, generally one year, then in force, for the chief executive officers of the city, was to make it possible for the Mayor to secure the services of competent men who would accept a four-year term but not a one or two-year term of office; and this object would be plainly thwarted if, when a vacancy occurred, as would frequently be the case from death, resignation or removal, two years, one year, six months or one month before the expiration of a four-year term the new appointee could hold only until the expiration of that term and must then be reappointed or retired. The most important practical change effected by the new charter in the administration of the city was probably the change in the mode of appointments and the terms of office of the principal heads of departments, and this change would in many cases fail to accomplish its purpose unless the provisions of section 13 are to be construed as giving to the new appointee a full four-year term from May 1 of the year when he qualifies and accepts the office.

2. To construe this section as contemplating that in the case of a vacancy the new appointee would hold only until the expiration of the four-year term for which his predecessor was appointed, involves the assumption that the Legislature of 1909 intended to fix the periods during which a general change of officers was likely to take place as the years 1910, 1914, 1918, 1922, etc. Such an interpretation would seem to be at variance with the general spirit of the charter. This was to fix upon the Mayor for the time being the full initial responsibility for the selection of competent heads of departments, and to furnish him with the means of securing the best men; but a new mayor might take office not only in the years named but in any intervening year, and to limit every mayor taking office in an intervening year in the length of tenure which he could hold out to prospective appointees would be to discriminate against mayors elected at these times. Such an interpretation is, in my opinion, not to be inferred, but must rest on express language; and I find no words in the charter necessitating such construction.

3. The words in Section 13 "for terms of four years beginning with the first day of May of the year in which they are appointed" are not to be construed literally as if "for terms" were equivalent to "during the period"; for under that assumption a person appointed in December of any year would hold the office from May 1 of that year, a manifest impossibility. The intent of this provision is thus seen to have been rather to fix the period at which the term should expire, viz., at a date four years from May 1 of the year of appointment, than to make the term itself coincident with this four-year period. That is to say, the phrase "beginning with the first day of May" cannot be used to designate the day when the term begins; it can have been used, however, as an indirect and rather clumsy way of fixing the date by which the expiration of the term was to be calculated; and this must therefore be regarded as the legal construction of the phrase. If the Legislature had provided that the Mayor should on or before May 1 of any year appoint for the term of four years beginning on that day, the words "for the term" might properly be taken to mean "during the term beginning May 1," and then no appointment could be made after May 1; but no such provision is found in this act.

I conclude that the words "beginning with the first day of May, etc.," cannot refer to the term itself, but were used merely as a date from which to reckon the expiration of the term, and that the sentence is to be construed as if it read "ending with May 1 of the fourth year after the year in which they are appointed."

4. Section 12 of the Act of 1909 provides that vacancies may be filled by permanent appointments under the provisions of section 9, that is, in the same manner as original appointments, and as section 13 applies to all these it must apply to vacancies as well. No special or different mode of permanent appointment under section 13 is sanctioned by section 12, notwithstanding the use in that section of the word "vacancy."

5. A difference, to which my attention has been called by Mr. Adams, between section 12 of the Act of 1909 and the law respecting vacancies then in force appears to me to be significant. Section 2 of chapter 2 of the Revised Ordinances provided that in the case of death, resignation, etc., the Mayor shall forthwith appoint a new officer "to serve for the unexpired term." The words quoted are not found in the Act of 1909, and their omission from an act plainly intended to supersede all existing laws and ordinances on the subject reinforces the conclusion reached above that by sections 12 and 13 of the Act of 1909 the Legislature intended that all new appointees should have a full four-year term, not merely the remnant, perhaps only a few months, of another man's term.

6. The act seems to contemplate only two modes of appointment: Permanent appointments for the full term ending four years from May 1 of the year of appointment, and temporary appointments for which the head of some other department must be selected. These latter appointments must evidently be intended for short periods. The discharge of the duties of two departments by the same persons for any considerable length of time would frequently be impracticable and in some cases impossible. Moreover, the duties of some departments are so different from those of others that no other head of a department could be found capable of filling the vacancy for more than a few days. This is particularly true of the Law Department. A vacancy in the office of Corporation Counsel, say early in January of any year, might paralyze the operation of this important department, prevent the proper trial and argument of cases, and cost the city large sums of money, if it could only be filled by some other head of department. There might be no other head of a department who was a member of the bar, and quite certainly no other city officer would be apt to possess the professional ability required to discharge the duties of this office during the next four months. The right to make a permanent appointment before May 1 would, in the case of this particular department, seem to be absolutely necessary for the protection of the city; and, as already pointed out, the four-year term adopted by the Legislature would be ineffectual if the appointment would only be for the remainder of the predecessor's term, conceivably only four months. The Legislature cannot, in the absence of express provisions, be thought to have intended that if the head of a department, say the Law Department, dies in July of the third year of his term the office must be filled either by a permanent appointee who would hold, however, only until May 1 of the following year, or by the designation of the head of some other department to fill the office temporarily. There might be no other head of a department in any way competent to fill the office, and it might not be possible to secure a new appointee for a term of only nine months' duration.

7. By the Act of 1909 the first mayor to be elected under the new charter was to take office on February 7, 1910. An affirmative answer to the first question put by the City Clerk, and a negative answer to the other two, would practically debar this mayor from securing any permanent heads of departments for three months — a result not to be drawn unless a necessary inference from the statute.

SUMMARY.

I conclude that to construe the Act of 1909 in such a way as to involve an affirmative answer to Mr. Donovan's first question, and a negative answer to the other two, is not necessitated by any express words to be found in the act; that in view of the longer terms of office provided by the act such a construction would create an unworkable system of appointments; and that such construction would be inconsistent with the main object which the changes in the city government effected by the Act of 1909 were intended to bring about. I am therefore of the opinion that when a vacancy occurs in the office of the head of a department the Mayor may at any time thereafter make a permanent appointment, and that the term of such appointee, whether he takes office before or after May 1, of that year, will extend to May 1 of the fourth year from the year of appointment.

While I cannot assert that the construction of these two clauses of the Act of 1909 is wholly free from doubt, I believe that my conclusion is supported by the actual language of the statute, so far as that goes, and that no other construction is consistent with the general purposes sought to be accomplished by the act so far as these purposes may be discerned in the act itself or inferred from such other documents and data as may properly be consulted.

Yours very truly,

NATHAN MATTHEWS

A NEW DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

AN ORATION DELIVERED AT

FANEUIL HALL, JULY 4, 1913,

BY

GRENVILLE S. MACFARLAND.

Mr. Mayor and Fellow Citizens:

From the dawn of history when Homer sent the sea serpent against that Trojan who would not participate in the joyous reception of the Greek horse, and when her countrymen rejected Cassandra's warning, men have found it unpleasant, on a day of national celebration, to suggest that there may be a sable side of a cloud of which we now see only the silver lining.

It is to avoid this unpleasant note on an occasion when the pealing anthem from every American heart should "swell the note of praise" that I have chosen to call the topic for to-day's consideration "A New Declaration of Independence."

This title is not meant to intimate that there is a single rotten timber in the Ship of State which our forefathers built and launched on the fourth of July, 1776, at the risk of their lives.

But a ship, however stout, which has been tossed upon the seven seas of national vicissitude for one hundred and thirty-seven years and has weathered the storms of six wars, one the most destructive war in all history, must be expected to need repairs and the removal of barnacles. And in the hold of the bravest ship rats will gather.

But if storm and stress and confidence in her stout timbers have kept her from the dry dock too long and the rats and barnacles now threaten to impair the freedom of her action, it will not be discordant with the glad tones of this holiday to consider the prospect of a new launching of the old ship, with her bottom cleaned and the rats gone.

Every thoughtful American who casts his mind back over one hundred and thirty-seven years will appreciate that our people have had very little uninterrupted time in which to give their whole attention to internal economic conditions.

Our national life began in the throes of a long and bitter struggle. The War for Independence, though successfully terminated, settled but one fact put in issue by the Declaration of Independence. It decided that we were an independent nation. But it did not decide that all men were created equal nor that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. It did not even give us a workable national government.

As a matter of law we were thirteen separate states almost as independent as the Balkan confederacy which is now quarreling over the spoils of war.

The first great task was the establishment of a working national government. The Constitution gave us a workable government in practice. But it did not confirm the Declaration of Independence—that all men are created equal and that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. The new Constitution did not even determine, at the time, the character of our national government. South Carolina said that it was a treaty of alliance between independent sovereign states from which any state might withdraw at pleasure. Massachusetts at first agreed with South Carolina, but finally contended that it created a federal union "now and forever, one and inseparable."

The powers of the national government under the Constitution were but vaguely known. Our territories were unexplored. By actual occupation we were scarcely more than coast settlements. The Indian tribes were hostile and unconquered. We had a recent enemy to the north. We had Spain and France hemming us in on the south and west.

Our relations with the world were uncertain and undefined. Radicalism in the wake of the French Revolution was struggling with reaction and monarchism in a world-wide conflict. French and English ships of war were harassing our merchantmen on every sea. Our people were divided in their sympathies between the French revolutionists and the monarchical reaction, stimulated by English gold and fed by German blood. So strongly were our sympathies engaged on one side or the other that the Federalist newspapers which supported the enemies of France refused to believe the news of the great French victory at Hohenlinden, and for weeks were filled with learned articles attempting to prove that the news must be false and that no such battle could have been fought, citing in support of their arguments the distance which the courier must have traveled to bring the news and the character of the country he must have traversed and the inclemency of the season which must have delayed his voyage. The Jeffersonian press, sympathizing with the radical cause, as strenuously insisted that the news was true and that the French Revolution was riding on the wings of victory.

The second war with England in 1812 and its readjustments added a disturbing factor to the conditions left unsettled by the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of 1789. Out of this second war with England rose the tariff conflict, complicated and embittered by the divergent economical conditions and moral principles which slavery had caused. In the midst of the tariff struggle came the demand of slavery for more land, followed by the Mexican War and the struggle over the conquered territory. The fierce dissensions concerning the disposition of the new lands between the slave and the free territories precipitated the Civil War.

These fundamental problems of territory and slavery and of our international relations demanded precedence over all consideration of our political tendencies and our economic conditions.

But as we settled each of these questions one by one, as we established our international relations with honor and dignity, as the convulsion in Europe subsided with the fall of Napoleon, as we conquered the Indian tribes, as we expanded our territory, sweeping onward to the Pacific, pushing France and Spain from our path, the still small voice of conscience was always reminding us that we had not yet settled the great precept of the Declaration of Independence that "all men are created equal and that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

The existence of human slavery under a government that drew its inspiration from the Declaration of Independence had produced an antagonism in the most elemental of our moral and political principles and a radical divergence in the economic development of the two great sections of the country. It was denounced and defended even by the churches. It lurked behind every political issue. It tinged the view of nearly all our statesmen. It had a subconscious influence in nearly every election for fifty years. Even before the institution of slavery had become a recognized issue, and for thirty years after it had ceased to exist, it invisibly tampered with the judgment of our people upon the particular questions of the hour, very much as a nearby piece of concealed iron will prevent the needle of the compass from pointing truly to the pole.

It is likely that future historians will decide that the year 1912 marked the end of the period in which the issues and prejudices of slavery and of the Civil War continued to have an effective influence upon our public affairs. It cannot be doubted that a very large element of the party of Lincoln remained within the party long after they saw that it had ceased to recognize what they considered the true principles of the early Republican party under Abraham Lincoln. Whether the penumbra of the shadow of slavery reached down to the year 1912, or whether it stopped sooner, it is certain that we have not until very recently been able to give our undivided attention to the economic and political conditions which have grown up during the years when our thoughts were diverted by other questions.

Herein lies the hope of our situation. The things which have unconsciously distracted our minds from the truth are gone, and we are able to turn our minds to the problems which have arisen silently side by side with those questions that had previously engrossed us and had obscured the other problems from our view.

Now at last we are able to concentrate our attention upon the facts which are known to us concerning the concentration of wealth in this country in the hands of a few—a very few—persons and the still greater accumulation of the control of wealth and of the consequent control of political and social power in the hands of still fewer men. We know that more than half the vast wealth of this nation of 90,000,000 souls now stands in the names of a few thousand.

We know that the effective control of nearly all this wealth, with all the power that goes with it, is in the grasp of a few score of men. The control of wealth to-day is power and in every organized society everywhere and always it has meant power. Where a few men have it in tremendous proportions and the rest have very little, we cannot have a government of the people or for the people or by the people. Where the drift toward the inequality of financial, political and social power continues at the rate it has proceeded during the present generation, it will need no prophet but only an ordinary student of history to predict that the sacrifice at Gettysburg was not enough to save a government of, for and by the people from perishing from the earth.

We are celebrating to-day the one hundred and thirty-seventh anniversary of our independence of a foreign power which we won after a seven years' struggle. But we have yet to celebrate our independence of an internal power, more foreign to the self-evident truths of the Declaration of Independence, more foreign to the spirit of those who signed that document, more foreign to the theory of our government, more dangerous to our individual liberties, and more hateful to our individual pride than the overlordship of England ever was. It has stalked abroad under different aliases. We have known it as the "money power," the "corporate power," the "trusts," the "special interests," "organized wealth" and "organized greed."

By whatever name it is known, it is dominating, subtle, pervasive, dangerous and exotic to free institutions. Evidence of the humiliating, foreign, un-American character of this power is of daily occurrence.

A few days ago a banker of power in Wall street delayed the sailing of a great ocean steamer because he had not taken the trouble to be on time to see his sister off. It is no unusual occurrence for one of these exponents of privilege to hold up a whole train at his or her royal pleasure, utterly regardless of the fact that hundreds of passengers are thereby inconvenienced and that a railroad is a public service corporation which should make no distinctions between people.

Last week a New York newspaper gave us an account of another Wall street banker leaving his office in his motor car. Instantly that limousine appeared the police halted the teamsters, the automobiles, the pedestrians, traffic regulations were suspended, the road was cleared as if a fire engine were coming, while this lord of money and representative of its power swept on his way.

Instances graver in aspect, if no more mortifying to our pride of personal equality, happen as frequently. The Standard Oil Company after years of lawlessness is fined twenty-nine million dollars and then does not have to pay the fine. The same company after disobeying the anti-trust law for twenty years is declared by the Supreme Court to be an illegal trust and is ordered to dissolve, yet does not dissolve but does raise the price of gasolene and oil and does raise its dividends. After the law had laboriously and all too slowly followed the trail of the tobacco trust over the ruins of hundreds of independent business men, crushed by the criminal methods of this ruthless organization, the Supreme Court finally declared it an outlaw and ordered it to dissolve. Yet its securities are selling higher to-day than before the highest court of the land had thundered against it, and now the Attorney General by his proposal to tax it confesses his belief that the government cannot destroy this trust.

The beef trust sold rotten beef to our soldiers at the front, cornered our meat supply, and sold it to Englishmen for less than we had to pay for it in our own country. These beef trust magnates did this for years with impunity, and when at last they were tardily tried for violating our anti-trust law they were not convicted.

The sugar trust cheats the government of millions in duties on sugar, is caught, returns a small part of the stolen goods and permits a few underlings to go to jail.

The Supreme Court has recently declared the merger between the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific Railroads to be an unlawful monopoly and ordered them to break up. This week the papers announced the form of dissolution between these two railroads. The stock of the one which is held by the other, and which constitutes the objectionable monopolistic control, is not all to be distributed among the people from whom it could not be easily gathered together again for the purpose of monopoly, but it is to be exchanged in great and controlling blocks among a couple of railroads whose community of interests are fairly notorious. Under this beautiful arrangement the interests of the two roads can be pooled again at any time as quickly as a couple of messenger boys can bring a few proxies from one office in Wall street to another.

The people of Pennsylvania so well appreciated the injustice and oppression which would follow the ownership of the coal mines by the railroads, both to the workmen who produced the coal in the mines and to the public which would have to buy the coal at any price the railroads asked, that the State of Pennsylvania by constitutional provision forbade the railroads to own or control the mines. This is the highest form of prohibition which men have yet devised. But the railroads for years have calmly defied the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, and when, finally, the national government lumbered up to take a hand in the situation the best that it could do was to get an oral denunciation from the Supreme Court, while the railroads are still exercising their own sweet will.

The steel trust was threatened with the competition of a well organized and equipped rival which owned a large area of ore land that constitutes the basis of the steel trust monopoly. The New York bankers, who had poured millions of water into the securities of the steel trust, knew that monopoly could alone exact the prices for the products of the steel trust that would pay dividends upon its inflated capital.

These bankers thereupon created a panic which involved ruin and death to innocent people, sent a solvent trust company to the wall, and frightened a really brave President into an agreement to suspend the laws and allow the trust to absorb its rival and grab its rival's ore lands, by representing to Roosevelt that the panic, which they themselves had fomented for this very purpose, could not otherwise be allayed.

The evidence which has been presented to the committee of the United States Senate investigating the situation in West Virginia coal mines shows that the republican form of government, guaranteed by the National Constitution, has been subverted in West Virginia.

In the coal region of that state the mining companies have formed a combination and together own more than 23 square miles of land. The miners are obliged to live in the houses owned by their employers. They are obliged to buy their food and their powder and their tools from stores owned by their employers, who charge them 100 per cent more than they would need to pay in independent stores.

When these miners struck for better conditions they were turned out of their homes and obliged to live in tents in the dead of winter. They were denied the right to assemble in the public hall, the church or the school because their employers claimed the ownership of the land about these edifices. They were denied access to the newspapers which told the truth about the situation and only the controlled papers were admitted in that 23 square miles of territory.

One cold night in February, about eleven o'clock, when the men were in the hills and their wives and children were in the tents, the mine operators sent through the district where these tents were located an armored train filled with thugs and ex-convicts armed with Winchester rifles and machine guns. When they came within range of the tents, where the women and children lay sleeping, they opened fire from the train and women and children were shot in their sleep and the rest were driven shrieking out into the frozen night, while Quinn Morton, the manager of the mining companies, cheered.

This devil Morton took the witness stand in behalf of the mining companies before the investigating committee and in the course of his testimony Senator Martine of New Jersey addressed him in these dramatic words:

"The public can stand your silence far better than you or your coal corporations can stand such silence; so much I say to you, as a member of this United States Senate Sub-Committee on Labor; but, speaking man to man, I wish to add, sir, that you are a blackguard of the meanest kind and that you have forfeited all your rights as a decent white man. When I remember those helpless women and children alone in the night — unprotected in their poor tents and your death special sweeping down on them — God in Heaven, can such things be?"

The state also has lent its aid to the general oppression and subversion of the rights of American citizens. Irresponsible young militia officers sat as judges and jurors trying and condemning and sentencing men to long periods in prison for acts which the law has not condemned and on evidence which would not be heard in courts of law.

These miners and their wives and children are not foreign-bred Italians, Poles or Greeks, but are Americans born and bred, whose ancestors were Americans before the Declaration of Independence. Illustrating anew the old proverb that "Liberty has her haunts in the mountains," these West Virginians are liberty loving men. They would not consent to the destruction of our National Government for the sake of slavery and it was as a reward for their loyalty that the government set them off from Virginia into a separate state after Virginia had seceded during the Civil War. The conditions of their ancestors, as the American subjects of the British crown, puts to shame the conditions of these descendants and is a bitter commentary upon the need for a new Declaration of Independence.

The power of wealth has exhibited itself in its ugliest form no less recently in Massachusetts than elsewhere. Have we learned all that the Lawrence strike can teach us? There the whole machinery of government was employed, not to keep the balance of justice even between the rich mill owners and the poor Greeks, Italians, Slavs and Poles who were struggling for a decent American standard of living, but was made by the mill owners an instrumentality for oppressing the strikers.

Men were falsely charged with murder and put in jeopardy of their lives for the purpose of depriving their poor followers of their leadership. Dynamite was scattered in the homes of these working people for the purpose of being discovered there and of enabling the mill owners to charge the strikers with intent to murder. The evidence showed that the children of the strikers innocently played with these terrible agencies of death which might any moment have blown them and the whole neighborhood into eternity. Two miserable men confessed complicity in the plot. A third man committed suicide when his relations with the plot were exposed. But not a single man who had the intellect to appreciate his moral responsibility for such an act has yet been punished.

The little children of the strikers were their source of weakness. The fathers and mothers could not see them starve and freeze while they fought for decent living conditions. Both the leaders of the strikers and the mill owners knew that the cry of the children might break down the fortitude of the parents. Therefore, the fathers and mothers were willing to let their children depart, like the noncombatants that they were, beyond the scene of the conflict. When they were gathered at the station to be transported where beyond these troubles there was peace, the mill owners employed the police to stop them, against the law and the natural rights of the parents and against all human decency. Policemen drove back the mothers who were attempting to put their children on the train, clubbing them without regard to their physical condition. This was in Massachusetts scarcely a year ago.

Some of the methods of the I. W. W. are un-American and cannot be countenanced, but they are only the reaction against the far more dangerous lawlessness of the power of concentrated wealth. They are attempting to lift above the waters of oblivion the submerged elements of our society which we cannot neglect without being submerged ourselves in the end.

These are but a few random instances which have occurred to me in a passing moment, but which show the existence of a dangerous power in this country. Against its machinations and strength the government has been pathetically helpless. And the efforts of the courts to control a situation which has been running away with us so fast are grotesque. After the Supreme Court had taken the teeth out of the anti-trust law by its imported "rule of reason," it could only fulminate heat lightning, which disturbs the powerful malefactors no more than the distant flash and the long-following rumble disturbs us on a summer evening. Cicero had an expression which describes most aptly the Supreme Court's efforts to protect the public interests. He used to say "Vox, et præterea nihil" — A voice, and nothing more.

But this is not the occasion for a pessimistic discussion. We are celebrating the triumph of our forefathers' unconquerable optimism. It was a philosophy in Franklin, a faith in Jefferson, a pride in Washington and Adams, and a principle in the people. The task of winning our national independence must have seemed infinitely harder to the patriots of 1776 than the task of restoring the independence of our government from the domination of its unnatural creatures can possibly seem to us. It is really no great task at all, if we recognize the danger and resolve to make a new declaration of independence. No one can doubt the ability of the American people to protect themselves if they will wake up from their slumber and stay awake long enough to find and apply the remedy.

The events of the last year make it evident that our people are awake, and I have an abiding faith that a large part of us have found a remedy. It is a remedy which we have not ourselves devised, but comes to us from the country which James Bryce says is "the most successful democracy the world has ever seen" — the Swiss Republic. We are taking it from Switzerland as we took the Australian ballot from Australia, because we have found that under conditions similar to our own it has accomplished in Switzerland what we seek to accomplish here.

I am confident of the future because I believe that we are on the eve of adopting this great reform, both in state and nation. Since the year 1898 the initiative, the referendum and the recall have been adopted by one state after another until now it is the law in seventeen of our American commonwealths. South Dakota adopted it in 1898, Utah in 1900, Oregon in 1902, Montana in 1906, Oklahoma in 1907, Maine and Missouri in 1908, Arkansas, Colorado, California and Arizona in 1910, Ohio, Idaho, Nebraska, Nevada and Washington in 1912; Michigan has adopted it this year, and Wisconsin, North Dakota, Minnesota and Texas have just submitted it to the people. They have never yet failed of a large plurality where a vote of the people has ever been had on the question of adopting them. We may, therefore, expect that twenty-one states, or nearly half of our federal union, will have adopted this reform before this year is over.

As you know, the initiative is the method by which the people at large can cause to be enacted into law a measure which the Legislature or Congress, controlled by the interests, persistently refuses to enact. The referendum is the name applied to the method by which the people can veto a bad law which their Legislature or Congress has passed. The recall is the name applied to the method by which the people can recall from public office a faithless man before his term of office expires and before he can do any further harm. The whole process of this great reform is so exceedingly simple that we wonder why it was not long ago adopted. But, like the great inventions, its very simplicity kept us from discovering it and yet compels us to hail it gladly when it is revealed. Senator La Follette rightly describes these devices as the tools of democracy.

Let us take a recent occurrence in our own State Legislature and consider what we could have done if we had the referendum during the present session. You know that the Legislature has just surrendered to the railroad the right to control the street railway lines in more than half of Massachusetts. You know that the policy of our laws for a great many years forbade a railroad to control a street railway. You know that the Governor thought that the Legislature ought not to give the railroad this right. You know that the Railroad Commission, the Tax Commissioner, the Chamber of Commerce and the Public Franchise League agreed with the Governor. You know also that the Governor vetoed the same bill last year and that the Democratic Party assembled in convention expressly approved of his action, and that the veto was a part of the Governor's record which was indorsed by the citizens of the Commonwealth at the polls by the largest plurality which has been given a candidate for governor in nearly twenty years.

It is not necessary to discuss the question whether the Legislature was right or wrong in giving the railroad these street railways, contrary to the settled policy of the state, but it will be admitted that it is a very important right which has been given away, and that it is a very grave departure from a long settled policy. It will be admitted also that if the Legislature was wrong, the error will cost the people of Massachusetts a great deal. If those who oppose the control by railroads of street railways are right, then we shall see a great diminution in the benefits which have been enjoyed by those who live in the suburbs of our cities from the competition between the street railways and the railroads, and in the coming competition between the two classes of competitors in market garden products and local freight.

Now if we enjoyed the referendum, those who believe that the Legislature was wrong, let us say the Chamber of Commerce or the Public Franchise League, or any other body of citizens, could circulate a petition among the citizens, and if they obtained the required number of names demanding that this bill be submitted to the voters before it became a law, it would go upon the ballot at the next election, it would be discussed during the campaign and decided by the citizens, each in his little booth, far removed from the influences which beset and too often control the Legislature. If the people approved of the bill it would become a law and the railroads would have the street railways, and nobody could or would complain. But if they rejected the bill the railroad would not have the street railways, and the policy of the state would be vindicated. But we do not possess the referendum, and the bill is a law to-day.

But suppose that subsequent experience justifies the prophecy of those who opposed this law. What can we do about it? We shall be absolutely helpless, unless in the meantime we have adopted the initiative. Anyone who has any political experience knows that it is almost impossible to make our State Senate take away from a powerful railroad an important privilege. But suppose that in the meantime we have adopted the initiative, then the situation would be simple. If the Legislature refused to take back the street railways which they had improvidently surrendered, any body of citizens could draw up an appropriate bill, taking back these trolley lines from the railroad, place the proposed law on a petition, circulate the petition among the voters, and if the required number of voters signed the petition the proposed law would go upon the ballot at the next election, and if a majority of the citizens voting upon it decided in its favor it would become a law.

It is as difficult to make an argument in favor of the initiative and the referendum as to prove an axiom in mathematics. To men who really believe that this ought to be a government of, for and by the people it seems only necessary to describe the reform to have their approval.

The beneficiaries of the present conditions are and always will be opposed to the initiative and the referendum so long as the most selfish of human beings remains selfish. We need waste no time with them, for their numbers are insignificant when they are obliged to stand alone, and when we can detach from them that class of drowsy and timid citizens who are only half awake to real conditions, or who fear that any change will be jumping from the frying pan into the fire. This type of men have from time immemorial been the dupes and the Hessians of the exploiters. But we can argue with them and, because we are right, we can convince them.

There are two stock arguments made against the initiative and the referendum.

First, its opponents say that it will destroy our representative government; second, they contend that the people cannot or will not decide intelligently the questions which they would insist upon deciding, under the initiative and referendum. The first objection assumes that we have a representative government; I mean representative in substance, not in form. In the important struggles between public opinion and the powerful interests, does anyone pretend to believe that public opinion prevails? In Fourth of July speeches it may be the fashion to say that it does, but it is not true, and we all know it.

In the first place, we have no means of accurately ascertaining public opinion, and the reactionary forces are determined that we shall not have it. Do you realize that we have been trying for ten years to get the Massachusetts Legislature to pass what is known as the public opinion bill, by which the Legislature may canvass the opinion of the voters of the entire state on any proposition, although the vote need not be binding upon the Legislature? Even this paltry concession to the theory of a government by the people has been denied us for ten years. The corporations of the state have refused to allow the Legislature to ascertain the will of the people on any question, even though the Legislature is not obliged to obey that will when it is ascertained. Do you call this representative government?

The political parties have devised for themselves a method of learning public opinion by the use of party platforms, and this is the only method which we have to-day. But you need only to recall a few events which are fresh in your minds to appreciate the inadequacy of this method of making our representative government represent public opinion. You will recall that former President Taft and the Republican representatives in Congress were elected on a platform promise to revise the tariff downward, and that after their election they promptly proceeded to revise it upward. You remember that the Democratic Party in 1892 was put into power on a platform which pledged them to a tariff for revenue only, and they gave us that monstrosity called the Wilson-Gorman bill, which took the protection away from the Republican trusts and gave it to the Democratic trusts. Consider the political situation in the different states to-day. In Utah for seven successive years the Legislature has refused to carry out the provisions for the initiative and the referendum which the people of Utah put in their Constitution, but the details of which they foolishly left to their Legislature.

In Illinois the people twice by overwhelming votes declared in favor of the adoption of the initiative and the referendum, but the Legislature after a long struggle has refused to enact the legislation which will put the people's declared will into effect. In New York both the Democratic and Republican parties last year declared in favor of direct primaries. Governor Sulzer, loyal to his party promises, backed a real direct primary bill which would have fulfilled the hope of the people of New York. When the fate of this bill became doubtful on account of the activity of the party bosses and of the corporations behind them, Governor Sulzer, President Roosevelt and many of the leading men of the state took the stump, appealing to the people in behalf of the bill. The leading newspapers of the state supported the Governor. But their appeal to the public was in vain. "Democratic Boss" Murphy of Tammany Hall and "Republican Boss" Barnes up-state ordered their creatures in the Legislature to kill the bill, and they promptly killed it.

Consider the closing scene of our own Legislature last month. Both the House and the Senate gave the railroad the trolleys of Western and Central Massachusetts by an overwhelming vote over the head of the Governor. With the Governor, the Railroad Commission, the Public Franchise League, the Tax Commissioner and the independent newspapers against the proposition, and with the general attitude of the public towards the railroad monopoly, can there be any doubt that the Legislature acted against public opinion? But consider the situation in which those Democrats who voted against the bill found themselves. We are not here to criticise or to judge these men, but to weigh the facts. Their party platform had expressly declared against this very bill, and the party had invited support from the people upon the declaration of policy contained in this platform. Thus, in addition to all the other serious considerations which weighed against the bill generally, the Democrats were under the direct obligation of the party pledge. Is this representative government?

The truth is that the initiative and the referendum will give us a real representative government, because it will set our alleged representatives free. With the initiative and the referendum it will be useless for the corporations to maintain powerful lobbies at our Legislatures, for our Legislatures will not be able to sell out the public interests to them. Therefore, the lobby will go. So also will go the practice of paying the campaign expenses of candidates in order to control them when in office. Log-rolling on questions of great public interest will cease. So, too, will cease the pulling and hauling of the representatives by the local business man who has received a tip from his bank, which in turn has received a tip from the big bank in the big city, that a certain bill ought to pass or ought to be killed.

All these practices will end because they will cease to produce results. When our Legislatures are thus set free, and are allowed to decide questions upon their merits, the legislative debates will be more intelligent and real, and will command greater public attention, both because they are more intelligent and because the public will realize that it may itself have to decide the questions finally. Better men will be willing to stand for office and to stay there longer. Confidence will be restored in the Legislature. The whole tone of public life will be improved. The judgments of our representatives will gradually become more righteous and appeals to the people will become less and less frequent.

This is the way it has worked in Switzerland, and this is the way it will work here in time.

The second stereotyped objection to the coming reform is that the people will not make intelligent decisions on the important questions submitted to them. They will at least use their best judgment, which is more than a controlling number of our representatives often do now. The little consideration given to the important bills in our Legislatures is almost unbelievable. The committees are all packed by the different interests. The Committee on Street Railways is packed by the street railways, the Railroad Committee by the railroads, the Public Lighting Committee by the electric light and gas companies.

The crucial bills are held back in the controlled committees until the closing hours of the session, when the weather is hot and when even the best men are in no frame of mind to give proper consideration to dry matters of public policy. Then the bills are dumped into the House or the Senate and rushed through with only a perfunctory debate which not half of the legislators hear, and which would not change ten votes if they all heard it.

Not once in five years is a law which affects a powerful public service corporation, or any other powerful interest, passed on the honest, intelligent, independent judgment of a majority. This does not mean that the vulgar forms of corruption control all our representatives or a large part of them, but it does mean that there are always enough legislators whose votes are determined by considerations which do not touch the merits of the cause to turn the balance for or against the bill.

When you add to the number who vote honestly and thoughtfully for a bill those whose votes are obtained by the lobby or by log-rolling, or by the influence of the local bank, or a local gas company, or an electric light company, or by the obligation to the corporation involved, through jobs given to the friends of the representative, you will nearly always be able to figure a majority for the bill.

On the other hand, when a proposed law is discussed before the people, under the initiative and the referendum, the discussion will be by the ablest men and will be far more thorough than the best debates in the Legislature. This will be supplemented by a pamphlet sent out by the state in which both those who favor the proposed law and those who oppose it will have an equal opportunity to express their views.

It is said that the voters will not take the trouble to indicate their judgment on the important propositions submitted to them. This has not been true in practice where the initiative and the referendum prevails, and if it shall prove to be true there is a way to correct it. The country needs the judgment of every sound-minded citizen on these great questions of public policy as much as it needs them in war or for jury service. We can take the citizen from his home, put a gun in his hand and march him off to be killed if we need him. We can perform a surgical operation on his body and inject poison into his system if the public health requires it. We can put him in jail and keep him there as long as we wish if he does what we have said is wrong, but which he honestly believes is right. We can also compel him to cast his ballot. If it is necessary we can compel him to study the public questions and to read the discussions. We can hold public examinations to ascertain whether he has read the arguments and knows anything about the facts affecting the merits of the bill. We compel every father to send his children to school. Massachusetts alone spent nearly twenty-three million dollars last year on public education for the purpose of fitting our children to be intelligent citizens.

But to what end is all this tremendous expense if we cannot compel them to give the state the intellectual advantages which they have obtained at such great public sacrifice?

The citizen's participation in the affairs of his government is no longer a privilege. It has become a stern and necessary duty. He must no more be allowed to avoid it than he is allowed to avoid service on the jury or a call to the colors in the hour of need.

The method of compelling the attendance of our citizens at the polls is not difficult to devise or to enforce. Once in our voting booths, by whatever compulsion to overcome our sloth, and free from all untoward influences, we shall do our best, for it is a saving instinct of human nature to do our best when other things are equal.

It has been urged that the cost of all this is prohibitive. In Oregon, where the initiative and referendum are in full operation and where it has transformed the political life of the state, the cost is only about $25,000 a year. It averages less than $800 a measure.

But do we realize what it now costs us to get bad legislation from our representatives? The counsel for our New England railroad system testified at the recent hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission that he had to pay on behalf of the railroad $100,000 to "mould" the opinion of the Legislature in order that his railroad might be permitted to grab the street railways of a sovereign state. It was a matter of common report that it cost the New York Central Railroad several hundred thousand dollars to obtain from our Massachusetts Legislature the lease of the Boston & Albany.

Do we not have to pay these bills? From whom does the railroad get the money which they pay out for these purposes? What is the difference between paying it in legitimate taxation and paying it in railroad fares and in freight charges?

But this is only a small part of the public expense of this kind of legislation.

The Public Service Corporations and the other special interests who spend money for legislation only spend a small part of the profits which they expect to extort from the public by the legislation which they thus obtain. The Massachusetts Validation Commission found that the New Haven Railroad had wasted more than fifty million in the purchases of street railways alone in excessive prices paid for these properties. Every dollar of that loss must be paid by the people who use the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad.

In his recent report upon railroad conditions in New England, Interstate Commerce Commissioner Prouty declares that we "gave up our birth-right" when our Legislature consented to the lease of the Fitchburg to the Boston & Maine and of the Boston & Albany to the New York Central, for these roads were competing for western business. Our loss in consequence of this legislation is incalculable.

There can be no human doubt that if the people of Massachusetts had been able to decide for themselves under the initiative and referendum whether they wanted a railroad monopoly in this commonwealth, they would have decided emphatically against it. It is more than doubtful if the railroads ever would have attempted to effect a monopoly in this community if they knew that their scheme would have to be passed upon by the people.

We can all remember when Tremont street was congested beyond sufferance and the old Park Street Subway was built to relieve that congestion. We can also recall the attempt of the Boston Elevated Railway to put back its tracks on Tremont street after they had been removed. But Governor Wolcott refused to sign the bill to put back these tracks unless it contained a provision permitting the people of Boston to decide whether or not they wanted the tracks to be re-laid. The question was submitted to the people of Boston on the following election. It is well known that large sums of money were distributed among both parties to secure a favorable verdict on the question. But when the votes were counted the Elevated Railway learned that the people had rejected their proposition by more than two to one. The managers of great corporations are not stupid. It took only one lesson to teach them that it was impossible to control a whole people by the methods which control a legislature.

Immediately afterward came the struggle over the control of our subways. The Boston Elevated wished to own them and the farsighted citizens of this community wished to retain the ownership in the City of Boston. The Elevated by the usual methods drove a bill through the Legislature giving them the ownership of these subways. But Governor Crane vetoed the bill, declaring that he would not sign any measure surrendering these great underground highways to a private corporation without the consent of the people of Boston. If the people were agreeable to the proposition, he was, but they must be allowed to express their opinion. Thereupon the Elevated gave up their fight and the subways are ours to-day because the Boston Elevated Railway Company knew the folly of attempting to make the people of Boston give up so valuable a right.

The great achievement of the initiative and referendum is its power to prevent in advance these raids upon the public welfare.

It is useless to argue for the great reform with those who do not believe in popular government. The initiative and the referendum are aimed at this very class of citizens and at the abuses which have crept upon us under their methods. Men who are content with present conditions, who think they are well enough and want to let well enough alone, who judge the grandeur of a nation by its balance of trade, by its wealth, however distributed, by its population, however poor and miserable, by the number of its smokestacks, whether they represent industries that pay living American wages or are plague spots where American standards of living are not known, by the palatial mansions, however dark, unclean and overcrowded may be the tenements around the corner,—men who consider these things to be evidence of a great nation will oppose the initiative and referendum, and they are wise to oppose it. They are worshipping gross and material gods.

The American people have other ideals for the nation. They agree with the sentiment expressed by Lamartine, the distinguished Frenchman, who stood in the midst of a revolutionary crowd of his countrymen cheering a popular leader, and said:

“I but looked upward with the rest,
And when they shouted greatest, I whispered best.”

When the new independence comes, after the initiative and the referendum are in full operation throughout the country, our people will have established other standards of greatness than have prevailed under the domination of materialism. We shall consider all our citizens as linked together in a great national chain, whose strength shall be no greater than its weakest link. We shall not judge the nation by the prosperity of the most fortunate class among us, but rather by the least fortunate.

We shall not give protection to the strong and deny it to the weak.

Under the new dispensation we have reason to expect that our government will stand in the place of the Great Master who said, "Whatsoever ye have done unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done unto Me."

ADDRESS OF HIS HONOR MAYOR JOHN F. FITZGERALD, ON THE OCCASION OF THE DEDICATION ON MAY 22, 1913, OF THE MEMORIAL TO EDWARD EVERETT HALE, ERECTED ON THE PUBLIC GARDEN.

On Sunday afternoon, May 22, 1913, Ex-Gov. John D. Long, on behalf of the Edward Everett Hale Memorial Committee, presented to the City of Boston a statue of Edward Everett Hale, erected on the Public Garden.

Following the memorial exercises held in the Arlington Street Church, the statue, which represented the contributions of thousands of friends and admirers of one of Boston's most honored sons, was formally presented to the city.

In accepting the statue on behalf of the City of Boston, his Honor Mayor John F. Fitzgerald said:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The pleasing and honorable duty of accepting, in the name of the city, this statue, erected by the people and dedicated to the loving memory of a distinguished son of Boston, whose life made up a large part of her history for almost three generations, is one which I assume with no little gratification, and with much of pride. Born almost a century ago, trained in our schools, a graduate of the Latin School and of Harvard University, his sympathies and his interest were circumscribed only by the needs of humanity, and yet it is but truth to say that Boston is the city which he loved.

Of noble ancestry, he came into the world filled with the best sentiments that patriotism could inspire, and even to the end he devoted himself, as a lover of nature and his kind, to the uplifting of men and women wherever a cry of the oppressed from any quarter of the globe could be heard. His ancestors had given a perfect account of themselves in the revolutionary struggle; they had learned the value of peace from the rough experiences with war, and he devoted his great abilities to the promotion of the arts of peace with all the vigor and determination and consecration that had characterized his forefathers in the pursuit of war, from which alone they knew well that the reign of peace could come upon earth and endure.

Poet, journalist, historian, preacher of the Word, promoter of good will among mankind, comforter of the distressed, implacable foe of the oppressor, he might indeed well say, "I put on righteousness and it clothed me; I was eyes to the blind and feet to the lame; I was a friend to the poor, and the cause which I knew not, I searched out." If the cause of humanity was his forte, love of country was his foible. What boy or girl, whether in America or in distant lands, has not read "The Man Without a Country," written in the darkest day of the Republic, and not burned with patriotic fire and moved to lay down life itself, if need be, on the altar of country. Can you not hear him proclaiming to America and the world, through the sad story of Philip Nolan, written in the simple language of the seer, that patriotism is no mere area of land, but is an idea transfigured into an ideal, toward which the youth of the land, holding country most sacred next after God, moves constantly with unerring aim for the good of native land and all mankind.

Sir, there is a singular charm and fitness in these exercises this afternoon. The man whose memory we here commemorate was remarkable for his versatility, for the number and breadth of his activities, for the causes wherein he might do good, and which he searched out, but there was no cause, if any single one transcended another in importance, that caught his fancy and possessed his being more than the great cause of peace, to which he devoted long years, and which he abandoned only with life itself — the cause of the Master who had declared that he came to bring peace on earth to men of good will, and whose teachings, flung out upon the breezes of Judea, he reverently followed according to his own intellectual philosophy.

A short time ago, Mr. President, you made the happy suggestion that instead of erecting fortifications at the entrances to the great waterway that is to connect the two oceans, the statue of Christ, the Prince of Peace, be set up. The whole world, in dire fear of the awful horrors of war, knowing from too sad an experience the havoc which follows in its wake, met the suggestion with the loudest acclaim; and is it not singularly fitting that he who made this happy suggestion should be here this afternoon, presiding at these exercises, held in memory of one whose life was devoted to the common good, and all whose paths were peace? He knew by family experience, as I said before, what war was; he was formed in that heroic mould in which had been cast Nathan Hale, whose only regret was that he had but one life to lose for his country; but he knew, too, that war for war's sake was sin, and that the end of all human effort should be peace; and so, wherever and whenever the chance came to use his mighty voice in the cause of universal peace, he thundered as no other American in his day had done, and placed upon the brow of his beloved country the crown of peace to which "the laurels that a Cæsar reaps are weeds."

It scarcely seems that he is dead. But yesterday we saw him on yonder streets, towering above the mass of men, just as in soul he touched the clouds. Happy his end. He lagged not superfluous. Here yesterday — gone to-day.

The disenchanted earth lost for a time its lustre; . . .

The great magician's dead.

The city of his love is invited to place this statue among the other silent but eloquent memorials which, while keeping alive the glorious past, inspire the generations that are to come to high enthusiasms and noble deeds. The city accepts this statue with profound gratitude to those who contributed to its erection, and with deep affection for him whose memory it commemorates, to remind the present generation that knew him of his lofty aims and brilliant achievements, and to teach the generations that are to come that cities are not ungrateful, but that its proudest possessions are the memories of the good and great whose careers were a blessing in their own day, and the story of whose lives is an inspiration to generations yet unborn. To-day we dedicate this monument and yet not so. This statue is but a device to perpetuate in enduring bronze the physical features of one who had served well his generation. If you seek his real monument you will find it in the hearts of the poor and the oppressed.

Nothing can cover his high fame but Heaven;
No pyramids set off his memories
But the eternal substance of his greatness;
To which we leave him.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON INSPECTION OF PRISONS.

IN CITY COUNCIL, January 30, 1914.

The committee of the City Council, appointed in accordance with the provisions of section 1, chapter 224, of the Revised Laws, to inspect the prisons in the County of Suffolk, has attended to that duty and submits the following report: The institutions are the Charles Street Jail, the Parental School for Truant Boys and Girls at West Roxbury, the Deer Island House of Correction and the Suffolk School for Boys at Rainsford Island, all of which were inspected by the committee.

The committee visited the Charles Street Jail and found everything as far as the care of the inmates was concerned in excellent condition. The committee believes that the officers should be uniformed and, furthermore, that the inmates of the jail should be allowed more exercise and air in the yard.

At Deer Island the committee reiterates its recommendation of last year concerning the segregation of drug fiends from the mass of prisoners. It also believes that the victims of alcohol should be placed in a separate building from prisoners who have been sentenced for criminal acts. New laundry machinery is required, and as soon as the old machinery is removed from the laundry the building should be torn down and a coal pocket erected on its site. This will be a great improvement and is a matter of necessity.

The stone yard retaining wall is weak and should be immediately replaced. The committee recommends an electrically operated cold storage system for storehouse, butcher shop and morgue, with a separate machine capable of making about two tons of ice a day. The plant will cost from ten to twelve thousand dollars, but in the end would be a matter of economy for the city.

The total cost of the needed improvements is as follows: Laundry machinery, $6,000; retaining wall at stone yard, $10,000; new building, $30,000; barn, $2,500; total, $48,500.

The committee visited the Parental School. Everything was found in good condition. It is desirable, however, that the marsh at the school adjoining the playground be filled in. Also a gymnasium should be erected, as there is no suitable place for indoor recreation during the winter months. The committee believes in establishing a trade school for the boys at the school.

The committee visited Rainsford Island, in accordance with the law, and recommends the following: At present the visitors, who are the parents, relatives and friends of the boys, meet them on the wharf and have a visit of less than one-half hour. They have no opportunity to see the institution and gain any knowledge of the treatment and education of the boys. During the winter months weather conditions make it very unpleasant to stand out in the open, as they are obliged to do because of the boat schedule. It seems to the committee that a reception building should be erected to accommodate visitors or that the boating schedule should be changed so as to allow enough time for visitors to walk from the wharf to the institution and remain there long enough to see the charges. An auxiliary engine and dynamo of smaller unit than one now installed should be allowed for use in case of emergency. Where the smaller boys are housed at Point Cottage, repairs are badly needed. The cottage system should be installed rather than the congregate system which now exists.

Annexed will be found the reports from the various institutions, as required by law.

For the Committee,

JOHN J. ATTRIDGE,
Chairman.

REPORT ON PUBLIC CELEBRATIONS IN BOSTON, 1912 AND 1913, FROM THE CITIZENS' PUBLIC CELEBRATION ASSOCI-ATION TO THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC
CELEBRATIONS, JOHN F. DEVER.

THE BOSTON HOLIDAY POLICY.

A notable step was taken by the City of Boston in April, 1912, in providing for the organization and systematic conduct of celebrations of public holidays. This action was taken after the Public Recreation League of Boston had presented to the Mayor of the city, John F. Fitzgerald, an outline of plans and methods whereby public celebrations might be made effective in contributing to the pleasure of the people, and in strengthening community pride and public spirit. Before taking this action, the League had studied the local situation and had conferred with the Division of Recreation of the Russell Sage Foundation and with other national sources of expert knowledge. The Mayor, after careful consideration of the proposition, concluded that it offered a solution of one of the problems of municipal administration, and furthermore might well be expected to lead to increasing satisfaction in the observance of holidays.

The Mayor created the office of Director of Public Celebrations, and appointed to this position John F. Dever, and the success which has attended subsequent efforts attests the wisdom of his appointment as well as of the plan in general. Mr. Dever's many years' familiarity with the city and its official activities, as well as his personal popularity, have been important aids to the Mayor and to the committees in getting their plans approved so far as the best interests of the city seemed to warrant that approval. The plan has worked well, both in personal cooperation between all parties concerned and in general results to the people for whom holiday celebrations are provided.

It is worthy of note that Boston, by this action, was the first large American city to accept full responsibility as a municipality for the organization and direction of popular celebrations throughout the year. It was a logical development from the "safe and sane" Fourth of July movement now general throughout the country. The Boston policy as first outlined aimed to secure equally sensible results on all holidays.

The plan of organization provided for the cooperation of citizens with the municipal authorities.* Invitations were sent to several hundred civic, social, religious, labor, business and patriotic organizations, requesting each body to send representatives to a mass meeting held in City Hall on June 7, 1912. The interest in the effort was demonstrated by the fact that over two hundred men and women assembled on very short notice, representing practically every interest and element in the city.

After an expression of ideas and general discussion, the Citizens' Public Celebration Association was formed and a General Committee of fifty selected. This General Committee appointed an Executive Committee of twelve. At a subsequent meeting the General Committee voted that the chairman should fill any vacancies caused by members who did not attend, or who did not show adequate interest in the work. The committee was intended to be a thoroughly efficient body of working members, and not for honorary or other purposes. Nearly all demands for committee appointments for other reasons than service rendered have been successfully resisted.

The Director of Public Celebrations, representing the city, is directly responsible to the Mayor. The committees of the association formulate plans and submit them to the director for his approval. Such plans as are indorsed are put into effect by the committees under the supervision of the director. Committees in charge of particular holidays, as Independence Day and Columbus Day, and subcommittees in charge of particular events on each holiday, are appointed by the General Committee of the association with the approval of the director. Local or district committees are also created for Independence Day, and appointments to them are so made as to secure representatives of all the several parts of Boston. The chairman of each district committee is selected by the director and the main committee, but each chairman is empowered to appoint his own committee, with the understanding that the persons thus appointed are to be citizens of the district capable of doing effective work and not merely for honor.

Much work in arranging for the use of various parks and playgrounds according to the plans of the Independence Day and Columbus Day Committee of 1913 was undertaken by the Park and Recreation Department, whose officials cooperated without an indication of friction and thus helped make the new plan operate successfully.

The great amount of detail work involved in arranging the various committees, correspondence, and insuring the satisfactory operation of the plans for Independence Day and Columbus Day in 1912, and also in 1913, covering the whole city, was in the hands of the secretary of the association, who worked in constant cooperation with the director and committee chairmen.

Experience has demonstrated the merits of the plan in general and in detail. Duplication of effort has been eliminated. Earnest, intelligent and enthusiastic service has been secured. In effect it is a city plan for public celebrations. The advantages may be briefly summarized thus:

1. A general plan that may be applied to all holidays, especially to give each of the greater anniversaries a meaning and a value to the city at the same time that the people are provided with opportunities for rational recreation and wholesome enjoyment.

2. Systematic observance of Independence Day for and by all the people of the entire city. Making this primarily a children's day — "safe and sane." Centering celebrations in parks and playgrounds in many sections of the city, resulting in more use of these reservations for community benefit and individual recreation, and hence a greater return for the money spent for their regular maintenance. Introducing modern pageantry features in the parks by day and evening.

3. Extending the scope and interest of Columbus Day. Making this a holiday to be observed by people of all nationalities and interests. Giving to the annual street parade on this day a new civic meaning and a broader appeal.

4. Creating and reviving appropriate holiday features contributing to good citizenship, such as:

5. Flag raising exercises on Boston Common, officially opening the celebration of Independence Day and Columbus Day. Incorporation of similar patriotic exercises in local playground programs in many sections of the city for children.

6. Focusing more attention upon historic and patriotic features, such as the reading of the Declaration of Independence from the Old State House and the oration exercises in Faneuil Hall on Fourth of July, and thereby greatly increasing the attendance at these exercises.

7. A list of 100 Eminent Bostonians, both to honor the men and women of the past 283 years who helped make possible the Boston of to-day, and to interest the present generation in the events represented by these names.

8. An official City Flag and colors to be displayed on public occasions and to be used generally as an aid to civic pride and love of city.

9. Inaugurating a system of permanent decorations, the material to be preserved for use on future occasions. Beginning of efforts to make decorations of streets and buildings more artistic, attractive and distinctive. These ideas were exemplified on Columbus Day, 1913.

10. A commercial advantage to Boston in such celebrations as that of Columbus Day, 1913, was editorially noted by the Boston Herald in these words:

Last evening's Boston visitors, as they peered from amazingly crowded sidewalks into well-filled dining rooms of hotels and restaurants, and saw the lines in waiting before the theater entrances, must have become convinced that this community had at last "discovered" a holiday. Of no other of the year has the city borne more tangible evidence. The weather of October 12 proves ideal for purposes of urban observance. And we have never had just such a holiday before.

The Citizens' Public Celebration Association has not been concerned with creating holidays. Its interest and activity have been confined to holidays that already exist. Four successful celebrations: Independence Day, 1912, Columbus Day, 1912, Independence Day, 1913, and Columbus Day, 1913, have been held under the new policy.

A number of other celebrations of district holidays have been in charge of local committees, although all under the general supervision of the director. These include Bunker Hill Day (June 17), Evacuation Day (March 17), and Dorchester Day (June 8). Other events have been conducted outside this system, being mainly new features, including celebration of Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve in 1912 and 1913, and a Mother's Day and Municipal Picnic at Franklin Park, August 28, 1913.

Recommendations.— This committee recommends that the plan be extended, as conditions may make feasible, to include all holidays and public celebrations, believing this recommendation to be justified by the success with which it has been applied to the two larger holidays.

Although the experience of two years has yielded much information, no financial recommendations are offered. Appropriations and expenditures have not been controlled by the association. The City Auditor's report shows a total expenditure through the Mayor's office during the municipal year 1913-1914 (ending January 31) of $65,000 for all holiday and public celebration purposes.

Respectfully submitted by the Publication Committee of the Citizens' Public Celebration Association, January 31, 1914.

General Committee.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

The first holiday observance to come under the new policy was Independence Day, Thursday, July 4, 1912. In planning for this day, those in charge found themselves confronted with conditions by no means peculiar to Boston. Heretofore no definite policy had been followed to secure by careful direction, supervision and control by central authority the largest possible results in the satisfaction of the people from the money expended. Local and special interests had been considered quite as often as the advantage of the community as a whole.

The first aim was to make the Fourth of July in a true sense a civic and community festival. The director and committee, with the Mayor's approval, adopted as their slogan "Fourth of July is a children's holiday," and determined that the chief purpose should be to provide wholesome recreation and entertainment for the boys and girls, and to make sure that as far as possible danger and menace to life and limb would be eliminated. The "Safe and Sane Fourth" idea had been introduced in 1910, and by this time was established in Boston. So the plans were built on this accepted basis. With the children happily occupied and under proper supervision, the success of the Independence Day celebration was regarded as practically guaranteed. Among the many events for the special entertainment of the children, with parents and other adults as spectators, particular attention was given to establishing events in three conveniently located parks.

Children's Festival in Franklin Park.—A patriotic pageant, gymnastic demonstration, a country fair, a balloon ascension and folk dances. Fully 10,000 persons, young and old, were at the park that afternoon.

Four groups of children were assembled at Franklin Park. The first, to the number of 1,800, came from the South End, one of the thickly settled portions of the city. The second consisted of similar groups of 50 to 100 children from other sections of the city. There was a third group composed of 100 specially trained children who gave the demonstration of dancing, gymnastics and games. The fourth section of spectators consisted of individual small groups of children, with and without their parents, and other adult onlookers. The large number of children from the South End were selected by a local committee from settlement houses, churches and charitable organizations. They were assembled at designated points to meet special cars provided by the city. Each group of children was under the supervision of adults. This method prevented confusion and aided materially in bringing the children promptly to the park, and in returning them to their homes without delay. It is a matter of reasonable pride on the part of those who organized and managed the affair that no accident of any kind occurred during the day.

"The Pageant of Patriots," by the Boston Social Union, was enthusiastically received, and was the first use in Boston of pageantry in holiday observance. The historical references in this pageant were most fitting for a city possessed of a past so rich in legend, tradition and history as Boston, while the representatives of various nations in a liberty dance symbolized the new elements that now enter into the population of the city.

The "County Fair" was planned in imitation of events of this nature given in small towns. Gaily decorated tents were arranged in a circle, and each tent was devoted to a particular purpose. That is, one tent was for flowers, one for popcorn, one for peanuts, one for ice cream, one for fortune telling, etc. The space in the center was occupied by the various features of entertainment. The atmosphere of a fair was secured, and the pleasure of the children promoted at the same time, by selling every article at a uniform price of one cent, without regard to real value. For example, ice cream could be bought for one cent, although the regular retail price was five cents. (A different plan was used the next year.)

Folk Dancing at Castle Island.—These dances and accompanying patriotic exercises were given in the inclosure of old Fort Independence according to a more formal program than at the other places. Groups of children, 400 in number, were assembled within the casemates and appeared in turn to give their dances, accompanied by music, before as large a gathering as could be accommodated in the space between the walls, estimated at 5,000. It was demonstrated that folk dancing has great value as a means of popular entertainment, and that this area, previously neglected on such occasions, was ideal for the purpose. Free boat rides were given the children to and from the island, and the usual free ice cream.

Children's Field Day at Wood Island Park for the entire day, with 15,000 persons present. The children and many parents were entertained with competitive folk dances and with chorus singing. Prizes were awarded the winners. Athletics and games for children from eight to eighteen were held. There was a general entertainment appealing to both young and old. Ice cream was provided for the children. A band concert added to the joy and satisfaction of the occasion.

A street parade in Roxbury had been already arranged before the new plan was inaugurated, and the parade was conducted. One result was the joint decision of the local committee in charge, the General Committee and the director that there should be no more similar street parades on this holiday. It was agreed that time, energy and money could be used to better advantage. (The experience of the next year with a different policy justified this decision.)

In the evening the principal feature was a water carnival on Charles River Basin. There was a general illumination of the shores, a parade of decorated motor boats, canoes and barges, music by a band on a moving boat and a display of fireworks. The celebration on the Basin, due to adverse conditions of weather rather than to any defect in the plans, did not on the whole yield the results that were to be desired. (A change of plans was made the next year and great success followed.)

A very large part of the people of Boston were interested in the new mode of celebration, and the plan of a general community holiday through the cooperation of municipality and of citizens found general favor and support. Injuries from fireworks and explosives were greatly reduced in number because the young people were so interested in the various events of the day that there was no time or inclination to indulge in dangerous forms of celebration. (In 1913 such injuries were practically eliminated.)

The large number of district celebrations, each under the direction and charge of a local committee, had features in common but were varied to meet local requirements. The local committees worked harmoniously according to the plans of the central committee, and under the general supervision of the Director of Public Celebrations, instead of each section celebration being arranged regardless of the whole city and other districts. It was recognized that many people could not or would not attend the events on the Common and at Franklin Park, Castle Island and Wood Island Park. Local influences and precedent of other years also make district programs essential.

The general program for the city was calculated to interest all the elements of the population of Boston, and to provide several general features on a large scale and many smaller events in neighborhoods. Among the general features were the reading of the Declaration, appealing to the historic sense, and recognition of the place of oratory in the exercises at Faneuil Hall. For the younger men, athletics and sports abounded, and these included the established city meet on the Common, hurling, Gaelic football and other games on land, and also water contests.

An Observation Committee of the Citizens' Association visited the different events throughout the city, as did the director, and made note of the success of each, as measured by the extent to which the people were interested, and also noted the weak points. The committee made suggestions with regard to the conduct of celebrations in the future. Thus a large amount of valuable material was accumulated as a guide in planning and managing other observances.

A Publicity Committee saw that material was sent to the newspapers of Boston, describing the different plans of the committee as they took shape and also the final program for the day. The success in arousing public interest and in bringing together great numbers of people for rational observance and enjoyment of the day was largely fostered and promoted by the readiness of the Press to open their columns to information on the coming celebration. (At each succeeding celebration under the new plans the Press has shown an increasing interest and readiness to aid and advance the work of holiday celebrations as now conducted in Boston.)

INDEPENDENCE DAY, 1913.

When the time came to prepare for Independence Day, 1913, it was found that the plans of the year previous had been so satisfactory that but few changes were necessary. It was, however, possible to make the program more extensive by introducing some new features and to anticipate and provide for certain needs that had not been discovered the previous year.

The celebration of Independence Day on Friday, July 4, 1913, was the most interesting and satisfactory of any observance of this holiday in the history of the city. The program follows:

Patriotic and Historic Events.

Any Independence Day celebration in Boston must include certain well established exercises peculiar to a historic community such as this. Thus the reading of the Declaration of Independence from the balcony of the Old State House is warranted by tradition and custom, and possesses elements of great educational value. This ceremony was discontinued for several years but was later restored. This particular part of the program had unusual attention in 1913 from an especially large audience, due in part to the ceremony of flag raising which, with attendant exercises, preceded the reading of the Declaration. The flag raising was on Boston Common, in charge of a volunteer detail of the Coast Artillery Corps, M. V. M., under command of Maj. B. B. Shedd. Then with the militia as escort, the officials were escorted to the Old State House, accompanied by spectators from the Common and many others along the way, who would not have been attracted but for the band and brief parade. Immediately after the reading of the Declaration came the exercises at Faneuil Hall.

Flag Raising on Boston Common.—9 a. m. Prayer by Rev. Ernest S. Meredith, chaplain of the day. "The Star Spangled Banner," sung by Miss Genevieve Forbes. "Toast to the Flag," recited by Edward J. McDevitt, High School of Commerce. "The Star Spangled Banner," Coast Artillery Band. "America," by the band, and singing by the people.

At the ceremony were a detachment of the Grand Army of the Republic, under command of Assistant Adjutant-General Wilfred A. Wetherbee, a group of Daughters of Veterans, who had presented to the city the flag raised on this occasion, and a detachment from the Boy Scouts.

After the raising of the flag the procession escorted the Mayor, the chaplain and the reader of the Declaration of Independence, in Continental costume, to the Old State House. Coast Artillery formed under the balcony on the east front. Prayer by the chaplain. Remarks by the Mayor. Declaration of Independence read by Frank Gerard Montague, selected by the Mayor according to the annual custom from one of the senior classes of a high school, this year the Boston Latin School. After the declaration the line formed and escorted the officials to Faneuil Hall.

Faneuil Hall Oration Exercises.—Presiding officer, Mayor Fitzgerald. Music, orchestra. Prayer, Rev. Ernest S. Meredith, chaplain of the day. Music, orchestra. Reading of the Declaration of Independence, Frank Gerard Montague.

READING THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE FROM THE BALCONY OF THE OLD STATE HOUSE, WHERE THE DECLARATION WAS ORIGINALLY READ TO THE PEOPLE OF BOSTON. AN ANNUAL EVENT IN THE CITY CELEBRATION OF FOURTH OF JULY.

Music, orchestra. Oration, Grenville S. MacFarland, Esq., orator of the day. Music, "America." Singing by the audience.

PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS USED MORE.

One result of the plans for public celebrations as carried out in Boston during the past two years has been to show the large possibilities of public parks for purposes of organized popular entertainment and recreation on a generous scale. An especial effort was made in 1913 to utilize the parks and also many playgrounds for the entertainment of children and for patriotic exercises, with games and sports for people old and young. The result of this effort was that from nine in the morning until noon, at twenty-five playground centers throughout the city, boys and girls were entertained and enjoyed themselves in a happy, wholesome way. Some playgrounds and parks were also used in the afternoon and evening. Each district committee by its ingenuity introduced features and material which added to the resources at command for future Independence Day celebrations. In Roxbury the entire district celebration by day was centered at seven playgrounds, with good results. This was the first time definite efforts have been made to have playgrounds throughout the city utilized for the enjoyment of children and adults on a holiday. A like use of parks was encouraged the previous year and continued this year. A special subcommittee was appointed to assist the local committees in carrying out a generally uniform plan, modified to suit conditions. The suggested program for playground exercises was as follows:

SUGGESTED PROGRAM FOR LOCAL PLAYGROUND EXERCISES, INDEPENDENCE DAY, 1913.

9 a. m. Patriotic exercises:

(a) Flag drill or march by children; (b) flag raising; (c) brief talk on why Independence Day is observed, by some person selected for the purpose; (d) singing of one or more patriotic songs.

9.30 to 10 a. m. Informal games and play.

10 a. m. to noon. Athletic events for boys and girls.

Events to be open to boys under 17 years, and to girls of corresponding ages. Athletic events to be in charge of playground instructor in cooperation with local committee.

Suggested Events.

For Boys under 14 Years: (a) 50-yard dash (to be run in heats, with semifinals and final); (b) hop, step and jump; (c) running broad jump; (d) relay races by teams of 4 boys, each running 100 yards; (e) sack race or 3-legged race, or other humorous event.

NOON. — Serving of ice cream to participants in the morning program (as arranged by local committee).

This program is outlined merely to give suggestions to the local committees who are, of course, free to arrange whatever sort of program meets the requirements of the various districts. The Independence Day Committee, however, hopes that all the local morning programs will include in some form patriotic exercises and informal athletic events for both boys and girls.

Ice Cream, Peanuts and Popcorn Free.

It will be observed that in the programs for local and playground observances, and in that at Franklin Park, as well as practically in every section, provision was made for the distribution of refreshments to the children. The free distribution of ice cream, peanuts and popcorn is one of the distinctive features of the City of Boston observance of Independence Day. More than 1,700 gallons of ice cream, 160 bushels of peanuts and several thousand popcorn bars and cookies were used in this manner.

The distribution took place in sixty places all over the city. In most cases the distribution was by ticket, the tickets being given out the day previous through members of the committees and through local organizations. Except at South Boston, the distribution of ice cream, peanuts and popcorn was at stations established by the committee and in charge of volunteers. The places of distribution were basements of school buildings, wardrooms, tents in parks and playgrounds, and in two or three instances the headquarters of local organizations.

In South Boston the district tickets were good at any one of twenty designated stores. This method had a commercial value to the local merchants.

A Successful New Night Feature.

Boston Common was the center for an evening event that took the place of the previous year's water carnival on Charles River Basin. It was felt that some part of the program should be provided for the people in the evening at a central part of the city, and that it should have more substance than the discharge of fireworks and a band concert. As by inspiration, the Frog Pond and surrounding natural amphitheater on the Common were utilized. A platform was erected in the middle of this pond as a stage on which an entertainment was given. The walk around the pond was roped off as a place for the procession of the participants. The rising ground surrounding the pond was covered with spectators. Lanterns furnished by the Chinese Merchants' Association for decoration, and illumination made possible by the electrical supplies loaned by Houghton & Dutton Company, made a very effective setting. Two large searchlights aided in the effect of the different features of the entertainment. On a screen a stereopticon threw the announcements of the events in order, and of the various songs of many nations, as well as patriotic pictures and quotations.

The intention of the committee in charge of the evening celebration was to make it representative of the different nationalities now constituting the population of Boston, and by the people rather than merely for them. In this endeavor the committee was exceptionally successful, for the dancing and singing was by people of the nationalities mentioned — quite a different matter from the usual "folk dances" in which the costume may be all that indicates the national appearance and spirit.

The Chinese people furnished a group of participants, as well as a delegation of women and children in costume who were spectators in a reserved section. There were Irish jigs and reels, Italian dances by Italian men and women, the highland fling, reel and sword dance by Scotch dancers in costume; the sailors' hornpipe represented England, the dancers appropriately going on the stage from a boat on the pond, and there were Greek dances by Greeks in native costume. The whole entertainment closed with singing "America" and the "Star Spangled Banner," in which the performers and audience joined, led by the Mayor.

Owing to the plans made by the committee, the supervision of the evening's director and the careful preparations made for this entertainment by the Park and Recreation Department, the police and others concerned, an audience of fully 100,000 people thoroughly enjoyed the spectacle from beginning to end without an undesirable happening of any nature. Moreover, the participants themselves took part in the affair with the greatest zest. So notable was the interest that at the suggestion of the Mayor the entertainment was repeated on the following evening, with fully as satisfactory results as on the evening of the Fourth and an estimated attendance of 75,000.

The entertainment at the Frog Pond was followed by a display of Chinese and Italian fireworks at the baseball field on a nearby portion of the Common.

Approval from the Newspapers.

Some newspaper comment upon the day's celebration indicates the impression it produced upon the community:

"Never in the history of the city has there been such a celebration as that held last evening on the Common," said the Boston Advertiser of July 5. "It was estimated that more than 100,000 persons gathered around the Frog Pond to witness the international entertainment, to enjoy the band concert and bring to a close the most memorable and the most enjoyable July 4 that the citizens of Boston have ever shared in."

Repeat it in 1914.

The immense crowd that gathered on the Common was an eloquent proof that the new ways of celebration are well worth while. A wholly orderly and attentive multitude that found pleasure and inspiration in the music and dancing representative of the various nations. The idea of the floating stage in the center of the pond was a happy thought; and the whole affair, decorations, fireworks and all, was a fitting conclusion of the most patriotic and most satisfactory Independence Day celebration that Boston has known in later years. It was worth repeating.—Boston Herald, July 7, 1913.

In a Blaze of Glory.

Certainly no other celebration included such a varied or comprehensive program, and no other celebration had a program that so fully satisfied the various races and nationalities that constitute a metropolitan city like Boston or that could in so distinctive a way appeal to them all. . . .

Somebody made the discovery that Boston has a natural amphitheater in its very center as perfect in shape as the Harvard Stadium and several times larger, and that all that is required is to put a floating stage in the center of the pond, then light it with myriads of electric lights and lanterns, and even "footlights," and you have the largest natural theater in America, in an unrivalled setting.—Boston Globe, July 5, 1913.

Improving the Fourth.

All these innovations are welcome, for they will honor the day, while at the same time providing entertainment for those who see something besides mere frivolity in every holiday. Little by little, presumably, they will be augmented until, almost before the city realizes it, will come the ideal celebration long wished for by all who would make Independence Day carry its message to every heart and home.—Boston Journal, June 11, 1913.

Modern Way a Hit With the People.

More than 100,000 people gathered on Boston Common Friday evening to witness the culmination of that city's remarkable Fourth of July celebration. . . . The spectacle that was afforded these people was as varied as the nationalities which go to make up our great composite capital city. . . . All of which goes to prove that the modern way of celebrating Independence Day has made a great hit with the people everywhere.—Springfield Republican, July 6, 1913.

The Return to the Common.

The return to the Common for the Fourth of July celebration this year, as of old, is a testimony to the enduring hold the spot has on the affections of the people and to the vital, natural way it enters into their life.—"The Listener," Boston Transcript, July 9, 1913.

Wisdom of Organized Celebrations.

The success of the July Fourth Celebration in various sections of the city was unprecedented in the history of the city. The Fourth was made genuinely glorious, conspicuously sane and absolutely safe. It would be hard to conceive of a better method of demonstrating the service and value of thoughtful and sensible observance of the great national holiday. The whole scheme was extremely pleasing to the public and at the same time it reduced the dangers which in the past years threw a shadow of dread over the holiday rejoicing. . . .

The entire plan of exercises held on the Common was a splendid illustration of how many thousands of people may be wisely and safely entertained by the municipality. It demonstrated the wisdom of organized public celebration as against the harmfulness of scattered and careless individual celebration. And once more it gave evidence of how useful Boston Common can be in the way of accommodating vast numbers of the city's population.—Park and Recreation Bulletin, July 10, 1913.

COLUMBUS DAY.

The success and popular approval of the observance of Independence Day in 1912 naturally led to the Citizens' Public Celebration Association undertaking the organization of a program for Columbus Day of the same year — the first year this holiday had been officially observed by the city. The problem differed from that involved in Independence Day. There an old-established holiday had precedents established and the main work was that of development. But Columbus Day was a new holiday acceptable only to a part of the people. The important work was to construct a form of celebration agreeable to those to whom the holiday was already of importance, but also such as to gain the approval of its opponents or those indifferent to the new holiday.

Columbus Day, October 12, had been observed in Boston by private organizations since 1869, when the Italian Columbus Society began to make note publicly of each anniversary of the landing of this discoverer of America. The Italians were practically the only group to observe the day until the Knights of Columbus, composed of men of Irish descent, or of Roman Catholic religion, began an active campaign to have it made a local holiday. This was accomplished in 1910 by an act of the Massachusetts Legislature. The Knights of Columbus conducted worthy street parades in 1910 and 1911, and while altogether creditable and attracting much public notice, the celebrations did not secure the general participation of all the people nor the official sanction of the city that the significance of the day deserved and which was desired by the promoters.

The municipal Columbus Day celebration on Saturday, October 12, 1912, and still more in 1913, have given the holiday a broad scope. Instead of the day having no special meaning except for a portion of the community, it has been shown that Columbus Day is really the one great holiday in which all Americans can join freely and heartily. The progress in this direction in Boston may be easily understood from this statement: In 1911 Columbus Day was observed by only two or three nationalities and their descendants of the forty-three nations whose people are now resident in this city and vicinity. In 1913 there were twenty nationalities represented in the Columbus Day parade, in addition to a representation of countries of Central and South America in a Pan-American meeting in Faneuil Hall.

Early in July, 1912, a Columbus Day Committee was appointed to make plans for the celebration of the following Columbus Day. It was decided that a street parade should be the principal feature of the day as before, since weather conditions on October 12 are, as a rule, favorable for marching; and that the parade should be cosmopolitan and as representative as possible of the many races and nationalities comprised in the population of Boston. Much time and energy was expended to secure the interest and active cooperation of various groups.

Much of the effort to interest the entire community did not show results until the following year, and some of it will not show results until the coming year. Nevertheless, there had been few and perhaps no street parades in Boston with more significance than the parade of Columbus Day, 1912, because of its cosmopolitan character. The parade was notable not only in its length and the number of men, but in the great variety and high quality of its features. The dominant note was one of patriotism and good citizenship.

In addition to details from the United States Army and several regiments of state militia, there were in the line of march eight societies of veterans, including German and British organizations, and over forty fraternal and social bodies. Generous contribution of floats and marchers were made by a number of business firms. City departments contributed many effective features. Labor unions were conspicuous by delegations and representatives. The Italian societies surpassed all other nationalities, as nineteen of these organizations, with a total of 2,500 men, were in the procession. The cosmopolitan character of the parade was emphasized by the contribution of the Chinese residents of Boston. So superior was this display that the parade judges awarded to the Chinese section the prize for the best feature.

The parade was followed by several auto trucks with children from various parts of the city who had previously watched the parade pass from a reserved location on Beacon street opposite the Public Garden. (This feature was continued in 1913.)

The Committee of Judges made the following awards, each award carrying a certificate, and cash prizes as noted:

Other forms of celebration of the day were exercises in the public schools on Friday, October 11, in which attention was called to the life and deeds of Columbus, a lecture on Columbus illustrated with lantern views at Tremont Temple in the afternoon, attended by 2,400 children, and a similar lecture for children and adults at Franklin Union Hall in the evening.

An Observation Committee made note of the parade and other exercises, and in its report suggested improvements for the following year, which were discussed in full committee meeting a week after the holiday and then filed for the next occasion.

Following the celebration of Columbus Day, 1912, the United Chinese Society and the Chinese Merchants' Association tendered a banquet to the Mayor, Director of Public Celebrations and the Columbus Day Committee. On this occasion the Chinese organizations were presented the certificate from the City of Boston which the judges had awarded to the Chinese section of the parade. The occasion was an illustration of the results of such a celebration along cosmopolitan lines and was so regarded by the representatives of the two races thus brought together on equal basis for a purpose of common interest.

COLUMBUS DAY, 1913.

By reason of the experience gained in the successful observance of Columbus Day, 1912, the Citizens' Public Celebration Association entered with full confidence on larger and more comprehensive plans for the celebration of this holiday in 1913, with the advantage of unabated enthusiasm and a desire to do more work for the good of the city. Plans were prepared and submitted as before to the Mayor and director, and after approval were successfully carried out, with the addition of several new details of merit. An "Announcement of Plans" and an invitation to participate was sent in a printed circular to all organizations whose interest was desired — which meant every group that would respond.

The program for Columbus Day started with educational features in the schools, including seventy-two public schools and several parochial schools, on Friday, October 10. The "Official Program" is appended:

A Meeting to Enlarge the Scope of the Holiday.

At the suggestion of the committee, Mayor Fitzgerald approved a Pan-American Meeting in Faneuil Hall, on Sunday afternoon, at which the chief speaker, by his invitation, was John Barrett, Director General, Pan-American Union. The purpose of this meeting was to consider the common interests of all the countries in North and South America and the importance of cooperation between them which might be annually exemplified by the joint celebration of Columbus Day (or Discoverer's Day). As expressed by Mr. Barrett:

* Postponed on account of rain.

Let us make Columbus Day a "Get-together" day of Pan-America, when every one of the twenty-one republics and peoples of the western hemisphere shall realize how "all America" working together in sympathy and purpose can accomplish immeasurable results for civilization and the welfare of humanity.

By adopting such a policy and such an attitude we shall cause Columbus Day to mark the inauguration of a new era not only upon the western hemisphere, but throughout the world and prepare the way for the United States and her sister republics to walk hand in hand, arm and arm for the good of humanity.

Proposed City Flag and Colors.

The Columbus Day Committee undertook to secure the adoption of a suitable city flag and colors. This proposition was taken up for two reasons: First, to add interest to the celebration of the holiday; and, second, to bring results from many suggestions made in various ways in previous years that Boston should have an official municipal standard, which would be an emblem to stand for the city on public occasions, as the state flag stands for the Commonwealth and the stars and stripes for the nation. As soon as the plans were made public much interest was shown. Fifteen different designs were submitted and more suggestions by artists, architects, flagmakers and others. The designs were placed on exhibition at the Boston City Club and afterwards in one of the larger store windows. The newspapers printed some of the designs.

After consultation with the city Art Commission, the committee decided on the design which was used for the first time Columbus Day and then recommended for adoption by the city. The correct colors are Continental blue and buff, with the city seal. The proper shades of blue and buff are as for the official flag of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, shown by standard colors in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth. On the reverse of the proposed municipal standard for Boston is a reproduction of the three "mountains" that gave the name of "Trimountain" and which formed the geological foundation for early Boston — Fort Hill, Copp's Hill and Beacon Hill.

An ordinance for the adoption of this flag is before the City Council.

Flag Raising.

The flag raising ceremony on the Common was simpler in nature than that of Independence Day. The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, commanded by Col. Frederick E. Bolton, accompanied by a detail of Boy Scouts, conducted the exercises. While the band played "The Star Spangled Banner," and the military detail and citizens stood at salute, Maj. Albion Pease, a veteran of the Civil War and past commander of Kingsley Post No. 113, G. A. R., raised the flag of the United States to the masthead, and below it the proposed city flag. Following this ceremony, the Color Guard of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company uncovered the proposed city standard made of silk. This was afterwards carried in the parade of the day, together with the national and state flags. At the time of the exercises on the Common, the Mayor personally raised a duplicate flag at the official reviewing stand. A third copy of the new flag had been unfurled at City Hall just before the Common exercises.

Eminent Bostonians.

The names of a number of eminent Bostonians were inscribed on specially designed standards modeled after the famous Roman eagles, and used in the Columbus Day exercises of 1913. A special committee was appointed to select the names. The original intention was to have one hundred standards, but it was found impossible to secure a proper design and have the standards made in time; therefore only thirty-three names were announced at this time. Standards bearing the names were placed in charge of a special detail of Boy Scouts who were stationed at the morning flag raising exercises and then at the Court of Review until after the parade had passed.

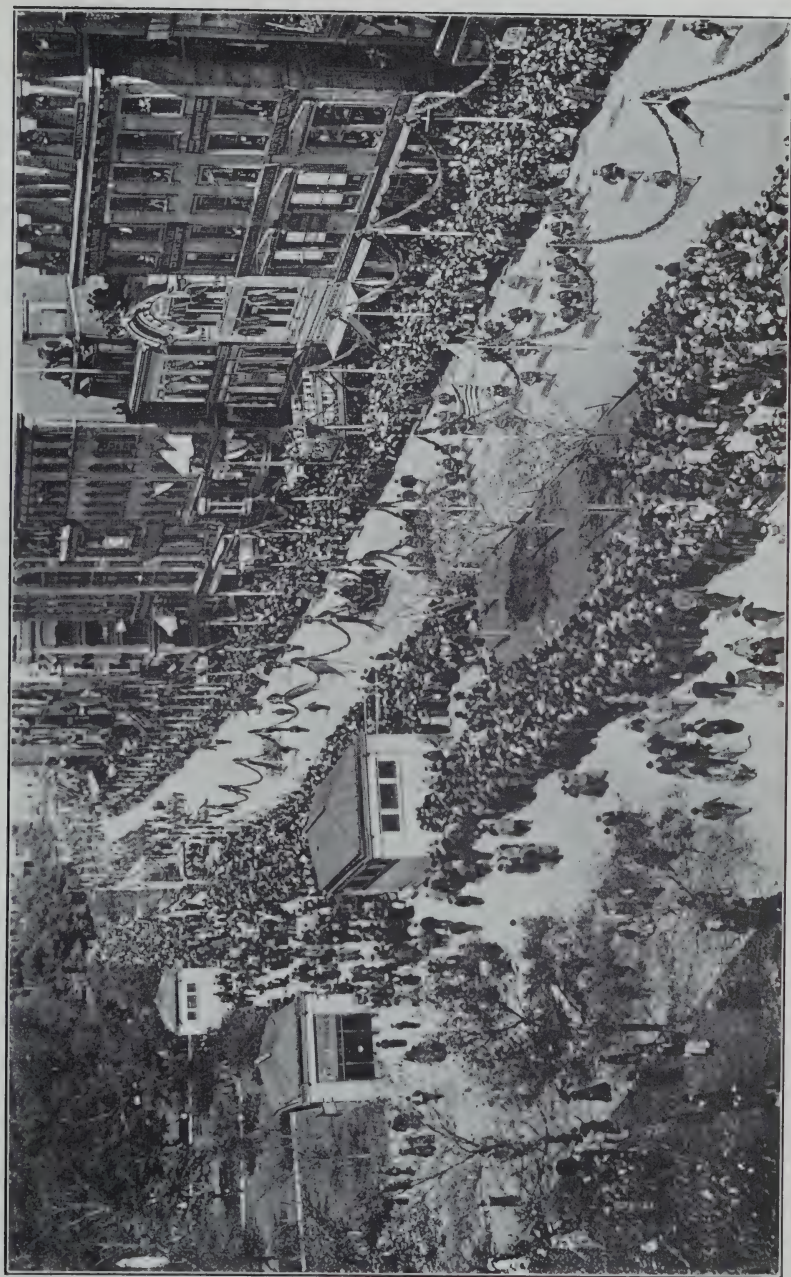

The committee proceeded to complete the work afterwards for future holidays and other occasions, with the advisory help of representatives of the following organizations: New England Historic Genealogical Society, Colonial Society of Massachusetts, Society of Colonial Wars, Bostonian Society, Boston University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston Society of Architects, Copley Society, Bar Association of the City of Boston, Grand Army of the Republic, Authors' Club, Massachusetts Medical Society, City Federation of Women's Clubs. The idea of a list of One Hundred Eminent Bostonians was that the people of to-day and future generations might become acquainted with men and women who, during the past 283 years, had contributed to advance the civic, literary and commercial development of the city or country.

The list of names finally selected is printed at the end of this report.

Decorations.

An effort was made with considerable success to increase the artistic elements of such a holiday celebration, by adapting well established European city methods to American conditions. A definite color scheme and style of decorations was used for all official decorating, and was followed by many of the business houses. Hence, instead of the stock bunting and flags, ordinarily the only expression of decorative art on such occasions, a considerably higher standard was reached. But from limitations of finances and time, only a few experiments were possible and no general scheme for the whole city nor any considerable part of it. Coupled with this was the idea of acquiring material which would be saved by the city and serve as the basis for a considerable accumulation, year by year, of permanent "properties" which could be used on other occasions without duplicating the original cost. This was done, and after Columbus Day the 300 poles, burgees, concrete bases, etc., were placed in storage until needed again. The same was done with the several hundred Japanese lanterns used on Independence Day. The material has since been used in part on other public occasions. Year by year the usual expenditures for such purposes can be applied so far as possible to adding to the city's stock of permanent material. A sample of what the idea would mean when applied on a larger scale was the Court of Review, 1,200 feet long, on Tremont street, Columbus Day, 1913, in the center of which was the city's reviewing stand for the Mayor and City Council. An experiment in overhead street decorations was tried on Temple place.

Parade.

The parade was intended to be a representation of the many elements and activities of Boston as a community. The spirit of cooperation manifested by the organizations in response to the committee's appeals and the generous assistance given by city departments made it possible to entertain, delight and instruct the people with what was acknowledged to be probably the best pageant-procession in the history of the city — much in advance of the previous year, but considerably short of the possibilities. It took fully two hours to pass a given point. It was not the greatest parade in size, but in interest to spectators and participants it has not been surpassed in Boston.

The parade was in ten divisions. The formation was according to a different scheme from any previous year. The Chief Marshal and his Chief of Staff organized the parade on these lines: First, the United States, then the Commonwealth, the city, the nations, fraternal organizations, educational, social service. The latter division, social service, and an unusual representation of women's efforts were two distinctive notes in the parade, signifying current developments in the life of the city and nation.

Details of United States Coast Artillery, a United States Navy battalion, companies from the Massachusetts Naval Militia, details from the Grand Army of the Republic, Veterans of the Indian Wars, United Spanish War Veterans and other organizations of veterans made up the first division. In advance, as escort to the Chief Marshal, was the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, the oldest military body in the United States.

The second division was representative of the various departmental activities of the City of Boston, including the Fire Department, Park and Recreation Department, Public Library, School Department and Public Works Department.

The third, fourth and fifth divisions were composed of representatives of certain nationalities. In the third division the Italians had in line of march forty-four societies. In the fourth division Canada, China and France were represented. In the fifth division there were Negro, Lithuanian and Polish organizations and other groups representing Germany, Brazil and Japan.

Divisions six and seven were made up of fraternal organizations. Division eight of educational institutions. Division nine was devoted to the presentation of various forms of social service, and the tenth division to the Boston Association of Letter Carriers.

There were, all told, in the parade ninety-three marching bodies and sixty-seven floats. Twelve different nationalities were represented by special groups, and eight more nations in other ways. Eleven fraternal organizations, twenty-one social service groups and six educational institutions participated.

An interesting, valuable and unique service was rendered by the State Sanitary Troops, M. V. M., under orders from the Governor and Adjutant General. A fully equipped military field hospital for the care of cases of injury or prostration was erected on Boston Common, and aid stations were established at several points on the line of parade. It was the first public appearance and duty of the Sanitary Troops, and the field hospital attracted thousands of visitors.

Enjoyment of the parade was greatly enhanced by the remarkably favorable weather conditions. Several days before and the days immediately following were rainy, but this one day presented bright sunshine and bracing but not chilly atmosphere. The scheme of decoration on Tremont street provided an effective frame for the brilliant moving picture made by the procession as it passed down the Court of Review. Business houses were gay with flags and bunting, in many instances these decorations being in harmony with the official colors and plans. It is estimated that 200,000 to 300,000 persons saw the parade. Lieutenant Governor Walsh reviewed the procession from a stand at the State House. The Mayor and City Council were on Tremont street at the Court of Review; and a third point of review was at Columbus square, occupied by the Chief Marshal and his staff. Special provision was made for the 200 veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic who were in the parade, so that they might have an opportunity to see the procession in comfort. They left the line at the armory of the First Corps of Cadets on Columbus avenue, where seats were placed on the sidewalk within a roped-off area. The privileges of the armory were at the disposal of the veterans. This attention brought a letter of thanks from the department commander to the city, committee and cadets.

The announcement of the coming procession was made by the Town Crier, dressed in colonial costume, who, after commanding silence by ringing his bell, summoned the spectators to attention by his announcement:

Heare Ye! Heare Ye! Goode People! Ye grand parade and pageant in honour of ye great discoverer, Christopher Columbus, approacheth! — Give earnest attention thereto in decent and peaceable manner, and thereafter peaceably depart unto your homes! —

God save ye Commonwealth of Massachusetts!

Chief among the persons in the Italian section was Joseph Maggi, marshal of the first Columbus Day parade in Boston, in 1869, and who is said to be the father of the Columbus Day idea. The Chinese surpassed their first exhibit in 1912. This year not only did they have a larger representation but the display of color, beauty of form and variety was such as to fill spectators with delighted surprise. Many of the costumes were imported especially for this occasion from China. The Japanese contributed a warrior of the old Samurai clan, clad in mail of former days, on a float showing the contrast between old and new Japan. The Polish exhibit was remarkably effective with marching women and men in costume escorting a float representing Poland losing her shackles. The colored people of Boston presented three floats, namely, the Crispus Attucks incident, the taking of Fort Wagner and the part played by colored women in the Civil War. The fraternal organizations were well represented. The Knights of Columbus, as was proper, took precedence in the division of fraternal organizations. The educational division was headed by young men and boys of Boston College and Boston College High School, being the first educational institution to respond to the committee's plan and invitation which was extended to all local colleges.

Awards of Merit.

A committee of judges checked the marching bodies, special features and floats, and made the following awards without classification as to order of merit. To each was awarded a specially designed certificate signed by the Mayor and Director of Public Celebrations. There were no cash prizes this year.

Marching Bodies.— Italian Societies; Bishop Cheverus Assembly, Knights of Columbus; Boston College and Preparatory School; St. Mary's Cardinal Cadets (Charlestown); Boston Letter Carriers.

Special Features.— Fire Department, City of Boston; Park and Recreation Department, City of Boston; Egyptian pageant, presented by "Joseph and His Brethren" Company; Chinese section; Negro float section; Polish section.

Floats.— Charles Russell Lowell Relief Corps, with G. A. R. section, "War Time Lint Party"; Public Library, City of Boston, "Story Hour for Children"; German residents of the City of Boston, "Old and New Germany"; Massachusetts Peace Society, "Law Replaces War"; New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, "Two Discoverers — Columbus and Alexander Graham Bell"; St. Joseph's Catholic Total Abstinence Society, "Father Mathew in Boston"; Boston Home and School Association, "Cooperation."

In the official roster (copies of which may be obtained by anyone interested) it was stated that one purpose of the parade is to reveal this City of Boston to itself—to set a pageant of activities moving through the streets where hundreds of thousands of men, women and children may see and learn something of the resources of the city.

All organizations and interests of the city must work together to make such a great undertaking as this successful. The degree of cooperation manifested this year has been very gratifying to the various committees and officials, whose labors have been much lightened by the general response to the invitation.

Such an affair as this does not produce itself. It is the outcome of months of hard work, preliminary planning and much voluntary service by interested men and women. Difficulties, sometimes apparently hopeless of solution, have been finally solved, and the result is the Columbus Day parade of 1913.

The committees of the Citizens' Public Celebration Association join with the Director of Public Celebrations and his Honor the Mayor in extending due thanks to all who have helped in large ways or small to make the event possible. It is always to be remembered that those who have cooperated to carry out the plans of the committees have thereby helped themselves to become more thoroughly acquainted with this great City of Boston and its many cosmopolitan peoples and activities.

The Columbus Day Committee encouraged the entry of specially prepared floats by organizations by undertaking to supply auto or horse-drawn trucks without expense. This involved securing the free use of such trucks from automobile dealers and business houses — an undertaking of no small magnitude when it is considered that more than 100 were required, or five times the number in the parade of 1912. But, thanks to a hustling special committee on this matter, practically all requests were met. The thanks of city and committee were extended in the printed roster to those whose public spirit secured the needed trucks for floats, and their names were conspicuously printed as a slight return for services rendered.

Advance Over Previous Year.

A review of the celebration of Columbus Day, 1913, makes it clear that a decided advance was made over the celebration of the year before in these respects:

First. By the installation of a definite scheme of decoration and of making a beginning of permanent equipment which can be used for holiday celebrations and on other occasions. Second. In a distinctly higher quality in the floats displayed, in respect to ideals represented, in the symbolism and the skillful use of color. Third. In the widespread interest in the holiday as shown by the participation in the procession of so many different elements in the population of the city. Fourth. In the general recognition given to the events of the day by the Press, both before and after the celebration.

It is furthermore noteworthy that the efforts of Boston to organize her holiday celebrations under joint control of municipality and of citizens' committees are attracting attention in other cities of the country, and that the example set by Boston, and her success in this endeavor, are likely to lead to imitation throughout the country. Thus the city is given some general publicity of a desirable character — an illustration of how the observance of a holiday may be more than merely a local notice of an anniversary. The celebration of 1913 substantiates the conclusions drawn from the experiences of 1912, on the great value of well planned and directed community celebrations in bringing people together on a common plane of interest.

Renovating Columbus Day.

Six days a week in this big town we, the two and forty nations, do our work together. On one day of October why not let the two and forty nations play together? Let them play in such a fashion that they may find out what they are like. If this had been begun twenty years ago there would have needed to be fewer calls of militia for strike duty, less public expense for "special police," broken windows, broken heads and bad blood generally. . . . We are all in this together. Highbrow, lowbrow, "brothers under the skin." The assurance that we shall remain in it depends largely upon our willingness to find a common ground of understanding and trust. A big inter-racial holiday can do as much as this: it can get the notion of a shared responsibility, a shared interest and a shared heritage to the heirs of the future. . . . Columbus Day ought to be a housewarming of cousin-races on these Atlantic shores. . . . On Columbus Day we are to feel ourselves as a city regardless of race. On such a day why not feel ourselves as a continent regardless of nation?—Boston Transcript, October 4, 1913.

After Columbus Day.

The Columbus Day parade was an event of which the city and the managers of the show may be very proud. It had variety and richness of color, appeal to sentiment and stimulation to patriotism. It reached many emotions and pleased the eye and ear. It was never dull, constantly arousing and fulfilling expectation. It was an unusual parade, and worth any man's time to watch. . . . This event is likely to be the distinguishing mark of Columbus Day, in this city at least; and that is appropriate. It should be a great cosmopolitan holiday.—Boston Record, October 14, 1913.

Suffrage Wins Hearty Greetings.

Gaining applause all along the lines of nearly 200,000 people, equal suffrage proved one of the features of the huge Columbus Day parade in Boston. Never before have the suffragists of the Hub made so extensive a demonstration, and never before have so many Boston onlookers been reached at one stroke with suffrage arguments.—Woman's Journal, October 18, 1913.

Discovery Day Rediscovered.

Of yesterday's parade it is difficult to speak with too much enthusiasm. It was admirably planned and skillfully carried out. The decorations of the city had been made with exceptionally good taste. The occasion has indeed shown the way to a new type of holiday observance, at once intelligent and inspiring. . . .

Discovery day has thus been rediscovered. It has been made a feast of "get-together" idea. Let us hope that, like the American continent once discovered, the holiday will not again be lost. Leif Ericson was the adventurer whose finding the world forgot. Columbus was the man whose discovery remained. So should the holiday named in his honor! And how appropriate that it should be so cheerfully cosmopolitan! —Boston Herald, October 14, 1913.

The Parade.

Yesterday's parade with its fine features showing the life and customs of many of the countries of the world, from which the national population has been made up, was one of the worth-while events of the year. A good many parades are rather stupid. The most exciting thing which can be said of them are the number of hours required to pass a given point and the number of different individuals or organizations in line. However, the parade which marched through the streets of the city yesterday was not stupid. It was entertaining, just as a moving picture show is entertaining, and it was possessed of a real educational value, as all moving picture shows are not. One of the problems of American holidays is that of finding suitable corporate expression of the life of the people. The old-fashioned Fourth of July, for instance, relied for such expression upon the oration and the reading of the Declaration of Independence in a public place. That sort of thing scarcely does to-day, even on a Fourth of July. The people ask for something more. That something was furnished yesterday. Those who organized the parade should have the utmost credit for a splendid show.—Boston Advertiser, October 14, 1913.

OTHER HOLIDAYS OFFICIALLY OBSERVED.

Although Independence Day and Columbus Day are the occasions for the two larger celebrations in Boston for the whole community, the city officially observes, or assists in the observance of, several other holidays during the year. Since the new plans went into effect in 1912, all these celebrations have had the supervision of the Director of Public Celebrations:

PATRIOTS' DAY (APRIL 19).

Observed in the North End district. A city athletic meet is the main feature, with band concert and fireworks in the evening. (This day marks the opening of the spring outdoor season for sports, apart from the municipal events.)

MEMORIAL DAY (MAY 30).

Allowances to various Posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, Spanish War Veterans and others, amounting in 1913 to $9,930. While the city does not officially encourage any form of celebration except the exercises by the veterans, the expenditures are handled under the same head as for the other holidays.

EVACUATION DAY (MARCH 17).

The celebration of this holiday is mostly confined to the South Boston district.* An annual street parade by military, naval and fraternal organizations with a banquet and speeches. Plans are made by a district committee centering in the South Boston Citizens' Association.

DORCHESTER DAY (JUNE 8).

A local celebration in the Dorchester district.* Athletics and sporting events are prominent, with historical and smaller features by local organizations. Plans are made by a district committee, including the Dorchester Historical Society.

* The celebration of these days is in the districts named, but thousands of spectators are attracted from all other parts of the city.

BUNKER HILL DAY (JUNE 17).

Plans for this holiday are made by a committee from the Charlestown district* or by a special committee of the City Council. Street parades of marching organizations have been the main events of the celebrations, with evening fireworks and band concerts, and many social features for organizations.

LABOR DAY (FIRST MONDAY IN SEPTEMBER).

All arrangements are in charge of labor organizations whose street parade is the main feature.

*The celebration of this day is in the district named, but thousands of spectators are attracted from all other parts of the city.

A BOSTON PAGEANT PROPOSED.

Included in the plan of the Citizens' Public Celebration Association is a great Boston pageant to tell "The Story of Boston," which may be presented on a large scale either on a holiday or on a special occasion. Much of the work which has been carried on in the past two years, both in connection with Independence Day and on Columbus Day, has been tending toward such a pageant. There has been as well a growing sentiment in other sources favorable to such an event. A committee of the association has had this matter especially in mind and under investigation for several months. After considering the results of experiments in connection with the observance of the holidays mentioned, and after investigating pageantry in other cities, the committee decided that not only has the time come for Boston to produce a pageant equal or superior to any given or planned in America, but that this city is a little behind the times in not having started such an undertaking.

As this report is prepared, a Citizens' Boston Pageant Association is being formed. It appears that any adequate pageant both for and by the whole community requires careful preparation covering a considerable period. Therefore, it is not likely that a Boston pageant will be given before the summer of 1915, although portions of the pageant might be given by small groups of participants during the intervening months. This may be desirable, not only as "dress rehearsals" of various features of the later pageant but also to arouse and focus community interest.

RULES FOR SELECTION.

This list of eminent Bostonians has been made up according to the following general rules:

Men and women who have been associated with Boston previous to 1901, or, in other words, individuals who died not later than 1900, and who were either born within the geographical limits of corporate Boston, or who came here and did their life work in Boston, or those who lived within a five-mile radius of the present Boston, but whose national reputation has permanently identified them as Bostonians.

The "time limit" rule prevented the consideration of several men and women who undoubtedly would be otherwise in the present list, but who because they died since 1900 are automatically eliminated. Thus, such individuals as Patrick A. Collins, Edward Everett Hale, Julia Ward Howe, B. J. Lang, John J. Williams and others remain for future attention.

As may be expected, various interesting conditions arose; for example, Benjamin Franklin. His great life work was done away from Boston, but he was born here and is identified with the city in many ways. Therefore it was decided that he was a "two-city man"; that Boston has a claim to him as well as Philadelphia. Some of the earlier Bostonians were discovered to have personal reputations not above comment, and official actions not altogether above reproach. They were, nevertheless, "eminent" Bostonians, and could hardly be left out of such a list; they helped make Boston in spite of their personal or official defects.

A total of about 400 names were considered, and before completing the list the public was asked to help in the selection. Several names were first suggested in this way.

It is desired that the list shall be of practical value to the community, and not merely a list of names to be quickly read and as soon forgotten. Several definite, practical uses for the list have been suggested, among them the following:

That the names be inscribed in a suitable manner and placed in the Public Library, and perhaps also in other public places, such as City Hall, schoolhouses and other public buildings.

That the list be included in study in public and private schools, not only as a matter of history, but also to aid in the teaching of practical patriotism.

That the names be used on holidays, such as Independence Day and Columbus Day, according to the original reason for compiling the list.

That the newspapers of the city be asked to print the list in a conspicuous manner, with perhaps brief biographies of each individual.

It is probable that the list will be placed in the custody of a suitable local historical association, which will be custodian and provide for adding other names at stated periods, in order that Bostonians who become eminent in process of time may be considered in an authorized way for place upon the list of honor. It is suggested that the next consideration of the list be in 1920 and then every ten years. Thus the list would gradually increase and reflect the development of the city.

The original committee was composed of J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead, R. L. O'Brien, Nathan Haskell Dole, Edward W. McGlenen, Lindsay Swift, William A. Leahy. (See page 25.)

After Columbus Day passed and the committee undertook its more laborious and time-consuming task, the committee was reduced by the voluntary withdrawal of some members until it finally consisted of Mr. Dole, Mr. McGlenen, Mrs. Mead and Mr. Swift; secretary, E. B. Mero.

The advisers were J. Payson Bradley, Grand Army of the Republic; F. W. Coburn, secretary Copley Society; Ralph Adams Cram, president Boston Society of Architects; Henry H. Edes, Colonial Society of Massachusetts; Samuel A. Green, former mayor, Massachusetts Historical Society; William Prescott Greenlaw, librarian New England Historic Genealogical Society; Henry Cabot Lodge, United States senator; James P. Munroe, secretary Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Lemuel H. Murlin, president Boston University; Charles F. Read, clerk Bostonian Society, and William A. Leahy.

CLOSING PROCEEDINGS OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF 1913.

IN CITY COUNCIL, January 31, 1914.

Councilor Timothy J. Buckley offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the city council be extended to Thomas J. Kenny for the able manner in which he has presided over the meetings of this body for the municipal year of 1913.

The question came on the adoption of the resolution. Councilor Buckley said:

Mr. President, it is with a great deal of regret that I rise at this time to say my farewell to the city council, of which I have been a member for the past four years. Coming here four years ago, after a most bitter political campaign and feeling antagonistic to most of the members and a stranger to most of you, I can truthfully say at this time that four years of my life have never been spent among better men, men for whom to-day I have the highest respect. I shall always consider it one of the highest honors to have had the privilege to serve with you, gentlemen, and also to have served with his Honor the Mayor of Boston. Coming here four years ago at the time he did, I feel a good deal of pleasure in closing my municipal service to-day at the same time that he does. Now I do not propose to talk very long at this time, but I do think that I ought to pay a tribute to each one of my colleagues during the past four years. Mr. Ballantyne I have the highest regard for. We have served together on the Committee on Claims. He was careful, considerate and conscientious, and, above all, humane, in the consideration of claims presented to our committee, and I always found him more than helpful. If I could not be there he was always willing to take my place and do everything that he possibly could. I hope that he will serve long in an official capacity for the City of Boston, because he is a high type of citizen and deserves well from the people. Then my colleague, Mr. McDonald, I have the kindest wishes for. You know it is always said that people coming from the same district are jealous of each other, afraid that one will get more credit than the other. But I am glad to say that not only here but in the Legislature, where we served together, there were no jealousies between Mr. McDonald and myself. We always cooperated and I think to-day we can point with pride — and with thanks also — to the city council, and to his Honor the Mayor, for more improvements for Charlestown in the last four years than that section had received in the previous twenty-five years. And I hope you will elect him president of the next Boston city council. My real regret is that I cannot give him a vote. I hope his election will be unanimous, and I know that he will serve with credit, not alone to himself but to the district from which he comes. Mr. Smith I campaigned with three years ago on opposite sides of the ticket. He was an aggressive campaigner, and we learned to like him. He took up a great deal of our time but we did not begrudge it because he was always working in the interest of the city. I hope that in a short time he will be one of the greatest bond brokers in the City of Boston. And Johnny Attridge — to look at him is to see his sincerity. He is sincere, he is able, he is aggressive. He deserves well from every one of us, and I bespeak for him higher honors in this community, which I know he will get and which he richly deserves. When the time comes I hope that I shall be able to do my share in recognizing the integrity and ability of a most sincere young man. It is rather hard to talk about Walter Collins because I have always felt very close to him from the very first day I came to know him. He brought to this council his great education and his good ability, and he certainly has helped us in close places by giving us of the benefits which he undoubtedly had. He has always been careful, conscientious and honest. The citizenship of Boston has a high regard for him, and my hope and prediction for him is that higher honors are coming to him, and I hope ultimately to see him the chief magistrate of this city. Mr. Coulthurst we have been sorry we have not seen more often. I never knew him personally until he came to the city council, but I knew him by reputation. We have all felt sorry that he has not been able to be with us regularly. I hope that he will have a speedy return to his good health and to his former activity, and that he will become a shining light in the annals of the City of Boston. Mr. Watson I have known for years, but I have been very closely associated with him the past year. He is always desiring to help the unfortunates. The public could not spare him from its service because he always has the interest of humanity at heart. And I hope that he will have a long service also in an official capacity for the City of Boston. Now, our attachés. Mr. Donovan is one of the noblest, ablest and most honorable of men. I never knew him intimately until he became city clerk, and one of my chief regrets is that I did not vote for him as city clerk when he was elected here, and if I were again in the city council of Boston you may rest assured it would be a great deal of pleasure to give him my vote. And Mr. Doyle — quiet, unassuming and painstaking, with his good ability and always willingness to help. We certainly can't spare him, and I hope that the city council will keep him as long as he lives, because he certainly is a great help to them. And City Messenger Leary of course has good sense, too. He showed his good sense when he came to Charlestown for a wife. And he has always been helpful to us, as have also Mr. Silloway and Mr. Glenn; they all deserve the best we can give them. And Mr. Harnden, the official stenographer, is undoubtedly the best in Boston, and always ready to help us out of any dilemma in which we may find ourselves. And then our Clerk of Committees, Mr. Dever — I feel a peculiar regard for him because he has always given me the kindest advice. I have felt as though he was an older brother and I never hesitated to go to him when I needed advice and assistance and he always gave it. I hope that he will soon recover his former health, and may his shadow never grow less, and I hope that he will continue to advise city councils for years and years and years to come. And then his assistant, Frank Chisholm, who is also a painstaking, careful and industrious man, always willing to put himself out in order that he might help us. And we certainly owe him a great deal because he is always willing to do everything in his power. I always thought that if those men who have given their lives to the service of the public, like Mr. Donovan and Mr. Dever and Mr. Chisholm and Mr. Doyle, with their great ability, if they had gone into some private business rather than devoting their lives to the public service, what a tremendous success they would have made, and be a good deal better off in this world's goods than they are at present. The newspaper reporters have always been kind and considerate. I know I will be pardoned if I mention the few whom I have always felt very close to since I knew them because of their faithful sincerity and carefulness not to print anything which they felt would hurt. And if I mention John Kelley of the Globe, and Dick Howard of the Herald, and Eddie Dunne of the Post, and Mr. Hull of the Transcript, I know the people will agree with me that they have been very fair. Mr. Kerrigan has always been fair, too, as has Mr. Cuniff. The other men I don't know very well because they have been with us only a short time, but I know they will pardon me if I don't mention their names. And now, sir, last but not least — we always keep the best for the last. When I came to the council four years ago I did not know you and I did not think that I would like you particularly. But to know you is to like you and one can't help liking you. The opening sentence of the Globe about you on the Sunday before election this year fitly describes you. It says, "Tom Kenny is a man who grows upon you." And that is absolutely so. With your admirable qualities, your great abilities, your generous nature, perhaps you are one of the most misunderstood men in public life. But those who know you certainly can testify to your worth. Since I have known you I could not say a word against you and be honest with myself. When men have asked me the sort of a man you were I have told them — even in the recent campaign I have told them frankly how I found you. Defeat at times shows a man in his true worth; it even means more than victory, and certainly your recent defeat cannot be called a defeat because it shows the manhood in you; it shows the courage with which you can meet a little adversity, the fortitude, courage and the great humanity in your makeup. I know, sir, that even though you were defeated that you are bound to stay in the public service and that you are bound to reach the goal of your ambitions. Now I do not propose to weary you any further to-day, but in behalf of the members and officials of the city council, with whom I have had the honor and pleasure and privilege of serving for the last four years, and with you, sir, and I consider it a privilege, I want to present you with this watch and chain, and our wish for you is that it may wear out ere the sands of your life run out. (Applause.)

Councilor Watson said:

Mr. President, I cannot allow the opportunity to pass without paying my humble tribute to you, sir. Words of praise are not on my tongue fit to pay tribute to you as I believe it should be paid. I look back a short year ago when I was sworn in as a member of this body. I also remember one year ago that when they were voting for the presiding officer of this body that my vote was not cast for you, sir. I remember that I changed my vote in your favor after it was shown that you were the choice of the majority, and I believe if I have only cast one proper and right vote in this body this year it was when I changed my vote from another to you for presiding officer. How little I realized at that time how much I would grow to respect and honor you, sir. So to-day I stand here in this body and say without any qualification whatsoever that you, as the presiding officer of this body, in my opinion and in the opinion of all who know you, are one of the most able, high-minded, honest, public-spirited citizens and noble friends that ever breathed God's pure air or basked in His sunlight. While you are not leaving us — and I pray that you will be with us for many years to come — I cannot close my remarks without reading a line that this morning I saw in a book. It applies, in my opinion, to you, sir. They are the words of Seneca:

“The greatest man is he who chooses right with the most invincible resolution; who resists the severest temptations from within and without; who bears the heaviest burdens cheerfully; who is calmest in storms, and most fearless under menaces and frowns; whose reliance on truth, on virtue and on God is most unfaltering.”

Speaking on manhood, Pope said:

“Of manners gentle, of affection mild,
In wit a man, simplicity a child.”

Those are my tributes, Mr. President, to you.

The resolution was adopted by a unanimous rising vote.

President Thomas J. Kenny said:

Gentlemen of the City Council,—I beg to offer you my most grateful acknowledgments for this splendid manifestation of your regard. I have no words to adequately express my real appreciation of this gift. I can only say, I thank you all. During the year of my presidency I have been the recipient of the full measure of considerate kindness, courtesy and attention at the hands, not only of the members of the city council but at the hands of the various officials connected with the city council as well, including the gentlemen who have been in attendance at our meetings representing the Press of the city. To each and every one I wish to say again—I thank you. This is the last occasion I shall have of addressing you as your presiding officer of the city council of 1913. It also happens to be a turning point in the history of the city government, since our next reunion will be as participants in the ceremony of inaugurating a new mayor. I trust you will not consider me irrelevant or untimely if on such an occasion I venture a few remarks bearing on certain tendencies and problems of the hour. As we are to continue together, with our ranks almost unbroken, for another year, it may be profitable to pause a moment before we make a fresh start and look soberly and honestly at the drift of things. There is one conclusion that no one can escape, since it is a matter of simple arithmetic, and that is that modern city governments are expensive. They do a great deal for the people, but they also impose heavy charges upon them. When I consider the rise in the cost of government in Boston during the last few years, I cannot help wondering whether, if this matter were put fairly and squarely before the people, they would give their assent to the present policy. I have very little faith in the ordinary comparison of tax rates. Tax rates mean one thing in one city, another thing elsewhere, according to the basis of valuation adopted, and, moreover, they ignore the general income which consists of the proceeds of taxation, more or less disguised. The actual sums expended and the increase by periods should, in my opinion, be placed candidly before the citizens from time to time and before those of us who are charged with the responsibility of directing and, as far as possible, limiting municipal expenditures. Stated in the simplest terms, the cost of maintaining our city government this year has been $27,000,000. If the water rates and the state and metropolitan charges are added, the figure is $34,000,000. If the cost of the state and national governments could be computed (and I am assured that this can be done by expert statisticians with approximate accuracy) the whole burden would approach the staggering figure of $50,000,000 a year. This means little, perhaps, until we bring it home to ourselves by translating it into terms of our own experience. For example, the average income of the employees of the Boston Elevated Railway has been, according to the published reports, about $700 a year. It would take nearly 70,000 such men, giving all their earnings, to meet the total cost of government in Boston; and to pay the city expenses alone would take 40,000. Imagine that army filing before us. It would comprise a very large percentage of the adult men of the city. It would require a whole day to pass. And every man in the ranks would be obliged to contribute his entire income, from January 1 to December 31, to keep the government in operation. I think it perfectly fair to picture the distribution of the burden in this way, because we are all inclined to assume that it is the comparatively small group of property owners, the so-called taxpayers, that maintain the government. No conception could be more misleading or more conducive to the prevalent laxity which condones and even applauds public extravagance. It is the average citizen who in this field, as in so many others, plays the role of ultimate consumer. The realty, personalty and corporation taxes, besides fees, excises, water rates, assessments of every kind, are all passed along to him. Rents, commodity prices and the cost of service in various forms contain these invisible elements. The city budget, in fact, is a part of the family budget, yours and mine, and ought to be scrutinized as carefully. It imposes an income tax just as real as any that is so called, but with this radical difference, that there are no exemptions. Unfortunately this burden is growing heavier all the time. I have made a comparison by two-year periods and find that the appropriations for city and county purposes alone in 1912-13 were greater by about $10,000,000 * than in 1906-07. This is a huge increase in the short space of six years, and no one contends that the city government was parsimonious in 1906-07. Some of this increase can be explained in a perfectly natural manner, by the growth in population, the rising cost of supplies, the high cost of living in so far as it properly influences wages and the payments on serial bonds. But these explanations do not cover the whole ground. They ignore the many economies that have been made possible under the new charter and that ought to show in reductions somewhere. They are no more convincing than the attempts to minimize the seriousness of the condition by a meaningless comparison of tax rates or to shift the responsibility from one department of the city to another. There is no doubt that our municipal outfit, or "plant," if I may use the term, has been expanding rapidly of late and that each new addition involves a continuous and steadily augmenting expenditure for operation. The playgrounds have to be supervised and maintained, and this is true of the municipal buildings, baths, convenience stations, bandstands, branch libraries, and the Aquarium and Zoological Garden. Even the City Hall Annex, which for the proper transaction of the city's business we all agree was necessary, will require, according to the estimate of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, $77,500 for maintenance in its first year and, probably, more in later years, when the effects of wear and tear begin to be felt. This is much more than the amount of any saving in rentals that can possibly be figured out; and when depreciation and capital charges are added the carrying cost of this one building will be sufficient to affect the tax rate perceptibly. It seems to me there is a real danger in letting the momentum of this tendency carry us too far. We are not poorly equipped at the present time. We have more than the generations that went before us and more than most American cities. May it not be a good time to

Appropriations, 1906-07		43,765,538 00
		$9,700,445 48
Parkman Fund, about		400,000 00

try to relate the cost of these improvements to their actual value, and to ask ourselves how far the $50,000,000 a year we pay in Boston for supporting our government, city, state and national, enters into the increased cost of living. No doubt, we get back a good deal of it in services which the government performs; but does the average family of five, paying as it does some $350, get back that amount of service every year? Nothing is easier than to spend public money. Of late years there has grown up in some quarters a spirit not merely of indifference to lavish expenditure but of resentment against those who endeavor to stem the flood. I trust, however, that the city council will never be infected by this spirit, or be deterred from imposing such checks on extravagance as its judgment may determine to be necessary. There is another problem to which I should like to advert briefly, as affording material for constructive, rather than merely negative, effort. No one who is familiar with other American cities can doubt that Boston suffers acutely from congestion. Housing conditions are no better than they should be in several of the residential sections, and the narrow streets of the business district have long since reached the limits of their traffic capacity. Tax rates and debt and expenditures respond only too elastically to the pressure of increasing population, but the "downtown" district moves its boundaries very slowly. We are still, as in Mayor Collins' time, trying to conduct all the business of a city larger than the one Mayor Collins knew on less than a square mile of territory. Fully 75,000 persons come into Boston every day from the suburbs to work, and many more to shop or visit or for amusement. Our business section is a vortex of travel and exchange. The trade of a whole state converges here and this intense concentration is reflected in the realty values. Wards 6 and 7, with only a little over 2 per cent of the area of the city, have over 40 per cent of the real estate valuation. Since 1900 the increase in these two wards has been greater than in all the rest of the city combined. This is due, partly of course, to the erection of modern office buildings and department stores, but chiefly to the appreciation of land values. The condition calls for radical measures of relief. We cannot go on building up in the air, because there is a correlation between the height of buildings and the width of streets which makes that plan impracticable in Boston. We cannot keep cutting up the district by new streets which are enormously expensive and, at best, merely palliative in their effect. The business district simply must expand in one direction or another, and the government will fail to do its part if it does not take measures to quicken and facilitate the movement. There is no problem that affects more vitally the welfare of this community or demands more earnest consideration. With these suggestions I lay down the office which your generosity conferred upon me a twelve-month since. No words can quite express my appreciation of this great honor. I like to think that the harmony and cooperation that have prevailed among us rest on a basis deeper and more solid than good fellowship, precious as that is. I believe and I am sure that if, in the main, we have agreed in our general policy, it has been because of our common loyalty to the true interests of the city, as we have understood them. Differences of opinion may have arisen, but differences of purpose and underlying motive have never been apparent to me. To be associated with colleagues so devoted to the public welfare is an inspiration to any man who is in the least degree sensitive to such influences. I thank you warmly and sincerely for your courtesy and cooperation in all our official relations, and, best of all, for your personal confidence and support, which have created an obligation I never can repay.

On motion of Councilor Collins the city council of 1913 adjourned sine die.
